This National Science Foundation Partnerships in International Research and Education (NSF-PIRE) grant supports the expansion of a unique interdisciplinary U.S. - Japan research and educational partnership focused on terahertz (THz) dynamics in nanostructures (OISE #0968405).

As the fields of science and engineering become increasing international there is a pressing need for the development of research and education programs to produce globally aware scientists and engineers. The strong educational portfolio of this project focuses on cultivating interest in nanotechnology among young U.S. undergraduate students, especially those from underrepresented groups, and encouraging such students to pursue graduate study and academic research in the physical sciences. The NanoJapan Program is the lead educational initiative of this center. Recognized as a model for international education programs for science and engineering students by the 2008 Institute of International Education’s Andrew Heiskell Award and in 2012 by the National Academy of Engineering (NAE) as an effective model of infusing real world experience into engineering education, the NanoJapan Program provides students with structured research opportunities in Japanese university laboratories. The NanoJapan Program includes:

- Pre-Departure Orientation at Rice University
- Three-Week Language & Culture Orientation in Tokyo
- Eight-Week Research Internship in a Japanese Nanotechnology Laboratory
- Three-Day Mid-Program Meeting at the Okinawa Institute of Science & Technology
- Re-Entry Program at Rice University
- Research Project Poster Presentation at the Rice Quantum Institute's Summer Research Colloquium

The goals of the NanoJapan Program are to:

- Cultivate an interest in nanotechnology as a field of study among college students;
- Provide students with hands-on experience with THz-related research in the field of nanotechnology;
- Nurture the next generation of graduate students in nanotechnology;
- Add to the skill set of active nanoscience researchers;
- Create students who are internationally savvy and have a specific interest in and knowledge of Japan;
- Enable students to collaborate in an international research effort;
- Educate students in culture, language, and technology, in order that they may be more effective when addressing global scientific problems.

BE ON TIME!

While you are in Japan, you must be punctual for all program events and meetings designated by your research host. For example, a lecture to be held at 2:00 will begin exactly at 2:00. If you don’t arrive until 2:00, you will be considered late and will disrupt the meeting already in progress. Always arrive 5 minutes early to be considered on-time in Japan!

CUSTOMER SERVICE:
Call us toll-free in the US: 1-877-235-5742
Call PicCell while in Japan: (+81) 345-790-242
Or send email to: info@piccellwireless.com

BILLING
Billing occurs monthly for the previous calendar month’s usage. A billing notice is emailed to you and you can log into your MY PICCELL account to view your itemized usage. Our automatic bill pay service draws funds from the credit card provided within 48 hours.

LOST/STOLEN
If your phone and/or SIM card is lost or stolen please report the loss immediately in order to block further outgoing calls, as you are responsible for all phone use until a report is properly made. A lost/stolen report can be made through your online “My PicCell” account or by calling our customer care center. Sending an email or leaving a voice message will not block your phone.

ROAMING
When you make and receive calls outside of Japan, you will pay roaming rates, which are much higher than your local rates for both incoming and outgoing calls. To avoid high roaming costs, we recommend that you use your phone only in emergencies or send text messages.

DATA & INTERNET
GPRS and WAP are wireless internet connections via cell phone. GPRS traffic is charged per kilobyte or megabyte of data transferred. We do not recommend using our SIM card or phone for an internet connection without an active data plan subscription with PicCell to avoid high data charges.
CALLING FROM THE U.S. TO YOUR JAPANESE CELL PHONE
The caller will need to dial 011 followed by the Japanese Country Code (81) and then your phone number. They should drop the 0.
Example: If your parents wanted to call Packard-sensei’s Japanese cell phone they would dial 011 81 90-7699-0699.

CALLING FROM YOUR JAPANESE CELL PHONE TO THE U.S.
When placing an international call using your Japanese cell phone dial the international code for the U.S. (0101) then the area code followed by the number.
Example: To call the NanoJapan program phone in the U.S. from your Japanese mobile you would dial 010-1 (832) 420-2751.

CALLING A JAPANESE CELL PHONE NUMBER IN JAPAN
Remember to add the 0 at the front of the phone number when calling a cell phone in Japan. For example, to call Packard-sensei from your JP Cell dial 090-7699-0699.

Wednesday, May 13, 2015 - Early Arrivals

- Arthur Win arriving into HOU at 9:45 AM on Branson Air #1405 (Hotel???)
- Katherine Kolar arriving into IAH at 1:55 PM and staying at Residence Inn (Pay individually for this night)
- Alena Klindziuk arriving into IAH at 7:40 PM on Frontier #251 and staying at hotel near the airport

Thursday, May 14, 2015 - Arrival in Houston

Arrival in Houston

Bush Intercontinental Airport (IAH)  Houston Hobby Airport (HOU)

- Steven Ceron at 7:55 AM on United #1287X
- Aaron Long at 9:20 AM on US Air #2061
- Jacqueline Baidoo at 10:42 AM on United #1457K
- Dylan Renaud at 7:10 PM on Frontier #F9 251
- Anish Bhattacharyya at 9:30 AM on SW #7
- Rebecca Wong at 11:15 AM on SW #645
- Rocco Vitalone at 11:15 AM on SW #645
- Julia Downing at 5:25 PM on SW #48

Already in Houston or Driving

Brandi Ransom (Rice University) & Cole Reynolds (Driving from TX A&M)

Arrange Own Transportation from Airport to Rice University, 6100 Main St., Brockman Hall, Room 103 (Bldg. 12 on campus map) Call Sarah for assistance at (832) 420-2751 or Michelle Roberts at (713) 348-6313

You must arrange and pay for your own transportation from the airport to Rice University. Bring a printed copy of the campus map with you to show the driver if needed. If you arrive prior to 12:00 PM, come to room 103 as Sarah will be there and you can store your luggage. You can access wi-fi on the Rice Visitor network.

Driver Instructions: Use Entrance 21 off of Rice Blvd. (see map) and drive into campus. At the stop sign, pull into the U-shaped drive directly in front of you. Brockman Hall is the 3-story, glass building in front of the U-shaped drive.

- Shuttle Service: We recommend Super Shuttle (www.supershuttle.com). You can book this online and pay with a credit/debit card. Be sure to use the discount code Owls1 to get the Rice University rate.
- Taxis: If you are arriving close to the same time as another NanoJapan student, it may be faster and cheaper to share a cab to the hotel. IAH has five terminals, so when looking to meet up, be sure you know which terminal you are in. Most cabs in Houston take credit/debit cards and it is a flat fare from the airport to the Medical Center/Rice.

by 1:00 PM Arrive Brockman Hall, Room 103 (Bldg. 12 on Campus Map)
Lunch boxes from Jason’s Deli will be provided starting at 12:00 PM.
- 1:00 PM Jacqueline Baidoo’s OPI Assessment (Pre)

1:15 - 1:30 PM Welcome and Introductions - Sarah Phillips

Sanuki Club Hotel Guidelines and Rules

- You will have a small private room with shared bathroom facilities, similar to a university dormitory. Rooms are furnished with a single-bed, television, desk and small closet. Each room will also have Yukata (Japanese-style robe), towel and slippers. You must leave the Yukata in the room when you check-out. All guest rooms and hallways are non-smoking.
- The 7th floor is FEMALE ONLY! No boys are allowed on this floor, no exceptions.
- No guests - including other NanoJapan students - are allowed in your room. No exceptions!
- There are showers on the 7th floor for girls, and the 5th, 8th, and 10th floor for boys. There is a large Japanese-style bath located in the basement. Hours are 5:00 PM to 3:00 AM and 5:00 AM to 9:00 AM. Females may request a card key from the front desk for the female-only section of the large bath. You will leave your room key with the front desk in exchange for the bath key.
- Free basic wireless internet is available in the 3rd Floor Seminar Room and/or lobby between the hours of 7:00 AM and 11:00 PM.
- Refrain from using Video Skype, downloading movies, or playing MMO games as the bandwidth of their internet service will not support these uses.
- Hotel staff will report any concerns or issues with student behavior directly to Packard-sensei. Please be a good representative of this program and be respectful of other guests.

Sanuki Club Hotel Rules

Access & Hours

- You will be given a room key to use for your door. When you leave the hotel, you must give this key to the front desk. When you return, simply tell the front desk attendant your room number and they will give you the key.
- No men are allowed on the 7th floor. This is a female only floor. There will be other female guests on the 7th floor and they will complain if there are men on this floor as they reserved the room specifically because it was a female only floor. No exceptions to this rule.
- No guests - including other NanoJapan students - are allowed in your room. No exceptions.
- No sitting, chatting, or using internet in stairwells. Use the lobby or 3rd floor seminar room or go out.
- There is no curfew at the hotel; you may leave and return at any time. You must leave your key at the front desk when you leave and ask for it when you return. However, the lobby and patio closes at 11:00 PM and all NanoJapan students should return to their rooms at that time. The lobby will re-open at 7:00 AM.
- Occasionally the Sanuki Club may hold a special event, concert, or other activity in the lobby. During these times the lobby will be closed to NanoJapan students. The hotel will provide you with a note letting you know of any upcoming event that requires them to close the lobby.

Use of Wireless Internet/Computers

- There are two computers in the lobby that guests may use free of charge. Please be respectful of other guests and limit your use of these computers to no more than 30 minutes at a time. You can print from these computers for a small fee and should ask the front desk to assist you with printing.
- The Sanuki Club also provides free wireless internet in the lobby and on the patio for guest use. They will also allow NanoJapan students to use the third floor seminar room for internet in the evenings. This will close at 11:00 PM. There are some nights when the seminar room has been reserved and cannot be used. Those dates have been noted in the Orientation Program schedule.
- No MMO games, video chat, or downloading of videos. This will crash their internet. They do not have the bandwidth for this. Please respect this rule or else you risk shutting down the internet for everyone at the hotel.
- Whenever possible, please limit your use of Sanuki Club wireless internet to e-mail, text-based chat, and web-browsing. Your observance of these restrictions will help ensure that the wireless internet remains working and available for all NanoJapan students and other hotel guests.

Bathrooms/Showers and Yukata

- Single-Occupancy rooms do not have their own bathroom. You will use the shared bathroom/shower facilities. A yukata (Japanese-style robe) is provided by the hotel and should be worn when walking to/from the bathroom and shower. This yukata must be left in your room when you check out.
- There are showers on the 7th floor for girls, and the 5th, 8th, and 10th floor for boys.
- There is a large Japanese-style bath located in the basement. Hours are 5:00 PM to 3:00 AM and 5:00 AM to 9:00 AM. Females may request a card key from the front desk for the female-only section of the large bath. You will leave your room key with the front desk in exchange for the bath key.

Vending & Food

- You can order drinks or small snacks from the bar in the lobby or patio garden in the evenings. This is the only food or drink that can be consumed in the lobby or on the patio. There is also a hotel restaurant where you may purchase lunch or dinner. Speak to front desk for hours.
- Vending machines are located in the basement for drinks/snacks. Food or drinks purchased from a vending machine or bought outside of the hotel can only be consumed in your room. They cannot be consumed in the lobby.

<tr>
<th>Ramen Ya:</th>
<th>This is an excellent ramen restaurant that you can find just by walking straight down the Azabu-juban St. (see the green map). This is a great first night destination for Sunday evening as the restaurant is fairly large and, depending on how busy it is, may be able to accommodate a larger group of students.</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>100 Yen Shop:</td>
<td>There are actually two of these in the neighborhood, but this one is right next to the 7-11. As you are walking down the main Azabu-juban St. look to your left as you cross each street and you will see a street with a 7-11 and 100 Yen Shop. 100 Yen Shops are great places to buy office supplies, toiletries, candy, and other random things you may need. They often have rather nice, inexpensive souvenirs too.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>7-11:</td>
<td>There is a 7-11 in the neighborhood and it’s only about a 5 - 10 minute walk down one of the side streets to the left of Azabu-Juban St. The ATMs at other konbini (e.g. Sunkus, Lawson, etc.) are not international ATMs and your U.S. debit card will not work with those ATMs.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Post Office:</td>
<td>Refer to the green map, and walk down the main Azabu-juban shopping street. At the second intersection turn left and you will see the Post Office about halfway down the block on your right. Post Offices also have international ATMs but with limited hours so if they are not open head down to the 7-11.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bakeries:</td>
<td>If you like fresh baked bread then you are in luck. There are wonderful bakeries all throughout Japan but a very popular bakery in Azabu-Juban is Mont Thabor. It is also found along the main shopping street, Azabu-Juban St., and after 7:00 PM (I believe) they discount the remaining bread and pastries.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Grocery Store:</td>
<td>There are a number of grocery stores in the Azabu-Juban neighborhood and you can find one just by continuing down Azabu-Juban St. After 7:00 PM the bento-boxes and some baked goods are discounted, so shop late and you may get a good deal, but have limited selection. There is not kitchen to cook at the Sanuki Club and the rooms do not have fridges so it is best to just buy what you will eat that day.</td>
</tr>
<td>Laundromat:</td>
<td>Just around the corner from the Sanuki Club, in the residential neighborhood, is a coin operated laundromat. There is a vending machine for small packets of laundry detergent and a dryer sheet. You may not know which is which at first, so buy both and then you’ll remember for next time. Check on the hours though as they do close at night since there are houses all around. If you keep walking down this street there is also a small store that sells fruit. Look for the imperfect/bruised fruit which is usually much cheaper than the pristine fruit you find in the supermarkets.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Hyperdia ~ http://www.hyperdia.com/</td>

All you need to know is your departure station and destination station and Hyperdia will tell you exactly how to get there, what train to take, the times, and the estimated cost.</td>

Purchasing Pre-Paid Subway Cards (IC cards)

IC cards are rechargeable cards that can be used to conveniently pay fares on public transportation and to make payments at a rapidly increasing number of vending machines, shops and restaurants by simply touching the card on a reader. One of the first things you should do in Tokyo is visit the Azabu-Juban Metro Station and obtain a Passmo Pre-Paid Subway Card from one of the ticket vending machines. You will need to use this card for travel to various activities during the orientation. Or, if you are at a JR train station, you can purchase a SUICA card. The initial cost consists of a refundable deposit of 500 yen. Then you choose how much additional money you want to put on the card, from 500 up to 9,500 JPY. When you enter the terminal, you will scan your card and the applicable fare will be deducted from your card when you re-scan upon exiting your destination station. The current credit balance is shown on a small display whenever you pass a ticket gate or it can be checked at ticket vending machines.

In March 2013, Suica, Pasmo, Icoca and seven more of Japan’s most popular IC cards became compatible with each other. As a result, it is now possible to travel on almost all trains, subways and buses in most of Japan’s largest cities with just a single of these cards. To learn more see http://www.japan-guide.com/e/e2359_003.html

Pasmo is the prepaid IC card of Tokyo’s railway, subway and bus operators other than JR. These cards are issued at Tokyo Subway stations, but will work in all of the regions/cities listed on this page. Since the Azabu-Juban station is close to the hotel and is a Tokyo Subway station, this will be the easiest card to obtain during your first couple of days in Tokyo and you can continue to use it throughout the summer. This card should work in Sendai, Osaka, and Kyoto. To learn more see http://www.japan-guide.com/e/e2359_003.html

Suica is the prepaid IC card by JR East for JR trains in the Greater Tokyo, Niigata and Sendai regions. These cards are issued at JR train stations in Tokyo, Sendai, and Nagano. This card should also work in Osaka and Kyoto. To learn more see http://www.japan-guide.com/e/e2359_003.html

Icoca is the prepaid IC card of JR West for JR trains in the Greater Osaka, Okayama and Hiroshima regions. Icoca is also compatible with a few minor IC cards in Western Japan, such as the Paspy card for non-JR transportation in Hiroshima; however, compatibility with these cards remains limited to Icoca. This card should also work in Tokyo and Sendai. To learn more see http://www.japan-guide.com/e/e2359_003.html

For more on transportation in Tokyo see http://www.japan-guide.com/e/e2017.html
Basic Orientation

Tokyo is covered by a dense network of train, subway and bus lines, which are operated by about a dozen different companies. The train lines operated by JR East and the subway lines are most convenient for moving around central Tokyo.

Tokyo's most prominent train line is the JR Yamanote Line, a loop line which connects Tokyo's multiple city centers. The city's 13 subway lines are operated by two companies and run largely inside the Yamanote circle and the areas around Ginza and Shitamachi. Most of the many suburban train lines commence at one of the six major stations of the Yamanote Line (Tokyo, Ueno, Ikebukuro, Shinjuku, Shibuya and Shinagawa).

Day Passes in Tokyo

Only on days when you use trains or subways a lot, can it make sense to consider one of Tokyo's day passes. Day passes are sold at train stations and vending machines and are valid from the first train in the morning until the last train in the evening rather than for a 24 hour period.

- Tokyo Free Kippu (aka Tokyo Tour Ticket) (1590 yen)
  Unlimited use of all subway lines (Toei and Tokyo Metro) and JR trains in the central Tokyo area on one calendar day. It is also valid on buses and streetcars operated by Toei. The pass is overpriced and will unlikely provide any savings over regular tickets or prepaid cards.

- Tokyo Subway Ticket (1-day: 800 yen, 2-day: 1200 yen, 3-day: 1500 yen)
  Unlimited use of all subway lines (Toei and Tokyo Metro) on one calendar day. Not valid on JR trains. The pass is sold at Narita Airport, Haneda Airport and Bic Camera electronic stores in central Tokyo to foreign tourists only (passport required). Furthermore, it is sold to both, foreign tourists and residents of Japan, through selected travel agencies outside of the Kanto Region.

- Toei and Tokyo Metro One-Day Economy Pass (1000 yen)
  Unlimited use of the four Toei subway lines, buses and streetcars on one calendar day. It is not valid on the nine Tokyo Metro subway lines and JR trains. The pass is available at ticket machines at Toei stations.

- Tokyo Metro Open Ticket (1-day: 600 yen; 2-day: 980 yen)
  Unlimited use of the nine Tokyo Metro subway lines, but not the four Toei subway lines and JR trains. A regular one day pass costs 600 yen. A tourist version for two consecutive days is available to foreign tourists only for 980 yen at Narita Airport and Haneda Airport. The regular one-day version is available through ticket machines at Tokyo Metro stations.

- Toei One-Day Economy Pass (700 yen)
  Unlimited use of the four Toei subway lines, buses and streetcars on one calendar day. It is not valid on the nine Tokyo Metro subway lines and JR trains. The pass is available at ticket machines at Toei stations.

- Tokunai Pass (750 yen)
  Unlimited use of JR trains in the central Tokyo area on one calendar day. The pass is available at vending machines at JR stations.

The Japan Rail Pass, JR East Pass and JR Kanto Area Pass are valid only on JR trains and the Tokyo Monorail. They cannot be used on subways or any other non-JR train.
Morning

Evening

Free - Dinner on Your Own
If you have not already done so, please call your parents or send them an email tonight.

Optional Evening Activities

Shibuya
Shibuya is one of Tokyo’s most colorful and busy districts, packed with shopping, dining and nightclubs serving swarms of visitors that come to the district everyday. Shibuya is a center for youth fashion and culture, and its streets are the birthplace to many of Japan’s fashion and entertainment trends. From Azabu-Juban take the Namboku line to Tameike-Sanno and transfer to the Ginza Line to Shibuya.

Shinjuku
Shinjuku is the large entertainment, business and shopping area around Shinjuku Station. Shinjuku Station is the world’s busiest railway station, handling more than two million passengers every day. It is served by about a dozen railway and subway lines. You can exchange JR Passes (Full or East) here. From Azabu-Juban take the Namboku line to Meguro and transfer to the JR Yamanote line to Shinjuku Station.

The topics for each week were chosen from a list of recommended topics submitted by the Japanese students. Be sure to exchange email and cell phone information with the KIP students you meet tonight so you can make plans to spend time with them during your free time in Tokyo. There is no better way to experience the city than with someone who is from here!</td>

Sumo is a Japanese style of wrestling and Japan’s national sport. It originated in ancient times as a performance to entertain the Shinto gods. Many rituals with religious background are still followed today. The basic rules of sumo are simple: the wrestler who first touches the ground with anything besides the soles of his feet, or who leaves the ring before his opponent, loses. Fights take place on an elevated ring, called a “dohyo”, which is made of clay and covered in a layer of sand. The fights themselves usually last only a few seconds, or in rare cases, about a minute.

Asakusa is the center of Tokyo’s shitamachi (literally “low city”), one of Tokyo’s districts, where an atmosphere of the Tokyo of past decades survives. Asakusa’s main attraction is Sensoji, a very popular Buddhist temple, built in the 7th century. The temple is approached via the Nakamise, a shopping street that has been providing temple visitors with a variety of traditional, local snacks and tourist souvenirs for centuries. Asakusa can easily be explored on foot.

| 6:30 AM  | Meet in Sanuki Club Lobby with Small Carry-on Bag Only
You do not have to check out of your room and can leave your large luggage and other belongings there. You will need money on your Suica/Passmo card to travel to Tokyo Station. Wear casual clothes that are okay to get dirty. It can be cooler in Nagano and may rain, pack accordingly. |
| 6:30 - 8:00 AM | Travel to Tokyo Station & Buy Breakfast for Train
Upon arrival, Packard-sensei will give you time to purchase breakfast to bring with you on the train. You should meet her at the designated location/time to get your Shinkansen ticket and proceed to the train. DO NOT BE LATE! |
| 8:50 AM  | Shinkansen (Bullet Train) to Ueda Station: Asama 607
Your Shinkansen ticket to Nagano has already been purchased on your behalf. |
| 11:32    | Arrival at Ueda Station & Lunch
Upon arrival, you will be given time to purchase lunch on your own. You should meet Packard-sensei at the designated time/location to board the bus. |
| Afternoon | Chartered Bus for Sight-seeing
Bus transportation is provided, but you may need to pay any admission fees and should budget for drinks/snacks for the afternoon. |
|          | Stone Buddhas                                                                         |
|          | Practice working in a Rice Paddy                                                     |
| By 4:30 PM | Arrive at Fujiya Ryokan (Traditional Japanese Inn) in Aoki Village                     |
| 5:00 - 7:00 PM | You will check-in, have time for dinner and can use the ryokans onsen to take a traditional Japanese hot springs bath.
Ryokan are Japanese style inns found throughout the country, especially in hot spring resorts. More than just a place to sleep, ryokan are an opportunity to experience the traditional Japanese lifestyle and hospitality, incorporating elements such as tatami floors, futon beds, Japanese style baths and local cuisine, making them popular with both Japanese and foreign tourists alike.
Natural hot springs (onsen) are numerous and highly popular across Japan. Every region of the country has its share of hot springs and resort towns, which come with them. There are many types of hot springs, distinguished by the minerals dissolved in the water. Different minerals provide different health benefits, and all hot springs are supposed to have a relaxing effect on your body and mind. Hot spring baths come in many varieties, indoors and outdoors, gender separated and mixed, developed and undeveloped. Many hot spring baths belong to a ryokan, while others are public bath houses. An overnight stay at a hot spring ryokan is a highly recommended experience to any visitor of Japan. |
| 7:30 PM  | Gimin Durm Performance & Opportunity to Practice on the Drums  |
| by 9:00 PM | Return to Ryokan                                                                     |
Nagano Outing

Saturday, May 23, 2015

Morning
- Breakfast at the Ryokan & Free Sight-Seeing Time
  Boys will check out of Ryokan this morning and stay in the village tonight. Girls remain at Ryokan.

- 11:00 AM Leave for Ueda Station by Bus
- 11:35 AM Meet KIP Students at Ueda Station & Travel to Shinshu University
- 12:00 PM Lunch at Shinshu University Cafeteria with Japanese Students (KIP and Shinshu Univ.)
  Pay for lunch on your own.

Afternoon
- Shinshu University
  - 1:00: Discussion with U.S. & Japanese Students
  - 2:30: Talk with AREC a local industrial firm

- 4:00 PM Leave for Yokate Camp/Village via Bus

Evening
- Barbeque Dinner at Yokate Camp with Villagers
  Food is provided but you must purchase drinks on your own. This is a Japanese style barbeque which is a bit different from the U.S. style. Bring a jacket/sweater in case it gets cool this evening as you will be eating outside.

- 8:00 PM Return to Ryokan (Girls) and or Bungalow in Village (Boys)

Sunday, May 24, 2015

Morning
- Breakfast at the Ryokan or Bungalow & Check-out
  The breakfast will be delivered by the coordinator who is a member of prefectural assembly. He is bringing either sandwiches or rice balls to the bungalow and ryokan in the morning. He will order them to the local restaurant and he will deliver them for us. If some wants to sleep in, they will be able to eat it in the bus on the way to the soba making venue.

- 8:30 AM Depart via Bus for Aoki Village
- 9:00 AM Soba Noodle Making in Aoki Village, see http://www.japan-guide.com/e/e2341.html
  Soba noodles are noodles made of buckwheat flour, roughly as thick as spaghetti, and prepared in various hot and cold dishes. Soba dishes are very popular and easily available nationwide. Like pasta, soba noodles are available in dried form in supermarkets, but they taste best if freshly made by hand from flour and water. Soba making has long been a popular hands-on activity for domestic and international travelers. The activity is offered by many craft villages and travel tour companies.

- 11:30 AM Lunch will be local pizza and the soba noodles you just made!

- 12:00 PM Sight-seeing in Aoki Village
- 1:30 PM Leave via Bus for Ueda City
- 2:00 PM Guided Tour by High School Students in Ueda City
- 5:30 PM Chartered Bus Leaves Ueda for Tokyo Sanuki Club Hotel

Late Evening
- Arrive at Sanuki Club Hotel

How to Bathe in an Onsen or Public Bath: http://en.naruko.gr.jp/onsen.html
In principle, people take off all clothes before bathing in the onsen. Don’t be shy because every bather will be naked. As most onsen and public baths are equipped with soap and shampoo, all you have to bring is a towel or a washcloth.

Note: It is quite common to wash thoroughly before getting in the bath. See step 4. By rinsing your body with hot water from the onsen, you will remove sweat and impurities. Please rinse the lower half of your body with particular care. Also, this step allows your body to get used to the water temperature before entering the bath.

When you enter into the bath, slowly lower yourself while paying attention not to splash water on others around you. If you spend too much time in the bath, you may get heat exhaustion. Please leave the bath before feeling any symptoms of over heating.
How to Use Onsen or Sento

4  STEP 4  Wash your body and hair at a washing area

Please take care not to splash water on the people around you. When you finish washing, rinse the washing bowl and stool and return them to where they originally were.

memo

Washing while standing is not considered good manners. Be sure to sit on the provided stool when washing your body.

5  STEP 5  Finishing the bath

After soaking in the onsen once more to warm up, leave the bathing area without taking a second shower. If you take another shower, the beneficial minerals of the onsen water will be washed away.

memo

Dry yourself completely with a towel before going to the changing room.

memo

To learn proper etiquette and manners for bathing in the onsen, it is best to observe other bathers around you.

“Taiko” in general is often used to mean the relatively modern art of Japanese drum ensembles (kumi-daiko), but the word actually refers to the taiko drums themselves. Literally, taiko means “fat drum,” although there is a vast array of shapes and sizes of taiko. Within the last fifty years since kumi-daiko was created, it has seen phenomenal growth to the point where there are over 8,000 taiko groups in Japan by some counts.

Free - Recommended Day Trip to Kamakura

Day
Optional Day Trip to Kamakura - KIP Students May Join

Getting There and Around: http://www.japan-guide.com/e/e3115.html

Kamakura is an easy day trip from Tokyo and you should coordinate plans for this trip with other NanoJapan students. We also recommend asking if any KIP students want to join you. This will be a great way to test the waters on using Japanese public transportation on your own to sight-seeing independently on the weekends. Wear casual clothes with comfortable walking shoes and remember to bring your umbrella. Bring extra money for great Kamakura snacks and souvenir shopping along Komachi St.

Engakuji Temple
Engakuji is one of the leading Zen temples in Eastern Japan and the number two of Kamakura’s five great Zen temples. Engakuji is built into the slopes of Kita-Kamakura’s forested hills.

---

Daibutsu (Great Buddha of Kamakura)
http://www.japan-guide.com/e/e3100.html
The Great Buddha of Kamakura (Kamakura Daibutsu) is a bronze statue of Amida Buddha, which stands on the grounds of Kotokuin Temple. With a height of 13.35 meters, it is the second tallest bronze Buddha statue in Japan.

Tsuruoka-Hachimangu Shrine
Tsurugaoka Hachimangu is Kamakura’s most important shrine. The shrine is dedicated to Hachiman, the patron god of the Minamoto family and of the samurai in general. The shrine is reached via a long, wide approach that leads from Kamakura’s waterfront with multiple torii gates along the way.

Day

- Free - Enjoy Sight-seeing in Tokyo on Your Own - Past Student Recommendations

  See the Tokyo City Guide for even more great ideas at http://www.japan-guide.com/e/e2164.html

- Senso-ji in Asakusa
  - http://www.japan-guide.com/e/e3001.html
  - The Sanja Matsuri is an annual festival in the Asakusa district that takes place over the third full weekend in May. Nearly two million people visit Asakusa over the three days of the festival, making it one of the three biggest festivals in Tokyo and is being held this weekend. A great time to head out and visit Asakusa!

- Tsukiji Fish Market
  - http://www.japan-guide.com/e/e3021.html
  - The number of visitors to the tuna auction is limited to 120 per day. Tourists have to apply at the Osakana Fukyu Center (Fish Information Center) at the Kachidoki Gate, starting from 5:00am on a first-come, first-serve basis. A first group of 60 visitors will be admitted to the auction between 5:25 and 5:50, while a second group of 60 visitors will be admitted between 5:50 and 6:15.

- Ghibli Museum
  - If you are a fan of Hiyao Miyazaki movies (Spirited Away, Totoro, etc.), this museum is a must-see and is located in Mitaka, which is ~30 minutes west of Shinjuku Station. Entrance to the Ghibli Museum is strictly by advance purchase of a reserved ticket which specifies the appointed date of the reservation. Purchase these in advance from JTB USA (see website). Use Hyperdia to find the route that will get you there in time for your admission.

- Odaiba and Miraikan
  - http://www.japan-guide.com/e/e3008.html
  - Odaiba is a popular shopping and entertainment district on a man-made island in Tokyo Bay. The bilingual Tokyo National Museum of Emerging Science, Miraikan, is a must-see here and there is also a Ferris wheel with a great view of Tokyo at night. This might be a good late afternoon/evening stop as then you can see the Rainbow Bridge lit up when you return back. Look for the Trick Art Museum on the 4th floor of the DECKS Tokyo Beach shopping center, and the Ramen World on the 5th floor of Aquacity Odaiba.

Sight-seeing Recommendations

Here are a couple of recommendations from past students but see the Tokyo City Guide for even more great ideas of things to see and do tonight at http://www.japan-guide.com/e/e2164.html

If you will be using a JR Rail Pass for travel to your host lab exchange your voucher for your actual Rail Pass on Saturday. You can also purchase one-way or round-trip Shinkansen tickets at JR East Travel Service Centers. You can only exchange your voucher for the pass at certain JR East Travel Service Centers including Tokyo, Ueno, Ikebukuro, Shinjuku, Shibuya, or Shinagawagawa. Depending on how long the lines are, this process can take 1 - 2 hours so go first thing in the morning.

Akihabara Electric Town

http://www.japan-guide.com/e/e3004.html

Akihabara is famous for its many electronics shops. In more recent years, Akihabara has gained recognition as the center of Japan’s ‘otaku’ culture, and many shops and establishments devoted to anime and manga are now dispersed among the electronic stores in the district. Check out Yodobashi Camera - like Best Buy but one million times better!

Ueno Park and Ueno Zoo

Ueno Park is a large public park next to Ueno Station in central Tokyo. Today Ueno Park is famous for the many museums found on its grounds, especially the Tokyo National Museum, the National Museum for Western Art, the Tokyo Metropolitan Art Museum and the National Science Museum.

Harajuku

The focal point of Harajuku’s teenage culture is Takeshita Dori (Takeshita Street) and its side streets, which are lined by many trendy shops, fashion boutiques, used clothes stores, crepe stands and fast food outlets geared towards the fashion and trend conscious teens.

Pack Large Luggage & Ship to Host Lab/Housing via Takuhaibin

Traveling with large luggage in Japan is especially challenging and we strongly recommend that all students ship their large luggage to their research host lab or housing in advance. To ship your bag/s you will need to know the address they are going to and the cost will vary based on distance, size, and weight. You can ship your luggage directly from the Sanuki Club Front Desk. Packard-sensei can help you with this process, but if you have the address of your housing or host lab that is really all you need and you should be able to do this by yourself.

The front desk will give you the form to fill out and you just need to pay the fee to them. The bag will magically be waiting for you on Monday when you get to your internship housing or host lab. Again, trust us. This is a wonderful service that is well worth the money. When you return to Tokyo at the end of the summer you can do the same thing - just ship your bags directly to the Sanuki Club before leaving your host city as that way you don’t have to worry about storing them while you are hiking Mt. Fuji or sight-seeing independently during your last few days in Japan. It is much easier to just travel with a small backpack/suitcase than a large one. Trust us!

<td>Housing will vary based on your host university. Refer to the specific housing information provided to you by NanoJapan. Typically, there are specific check-in procedures such as payment of any required deposit/entrance/key money and a general tour of the facilities. Carefully review any housing rules that you are given and be sure you abide by ALL of them. Dorm/building curfews are not uncommon in Japan as they not only protect the safety of the residents but also ensure that the front desk staff don’t have to work all night. If your building has a curfew, please abide by it.</td>

<td>In Japan, garbage is basically separated into burnable, non-burnable and recyclable items. At least two kinds of trash cans will be found in most households and in public places. The exact definition of what is burnable, non-burnable and recyclable depends on the municipality. Garbage collection days and hours depend on the area you live in. Carefully review any instructions given to you on garbage sorting by your housing and ask questions of your housing manager, front desk, or fellow residents if unsure of what to do.</td>

Tips for First Day

- Wake up early and dress up a bit for your first day to show respect for your lab and host professor. On other days casual attire will be fine.
- On your first day ask if someone from your lab can meet you at your housing to show you how to get to campus. Be sure you get detailed instructions from them on how to walk/bike/or take the subway on your own as starting on Tuesday you'll need to do this yourself.
- Practice introducing yourself in Japanese and be prepared to do this in front of the entire group during the first group meeting.
- Bring a small gift for your research host professor from your hometown or home state and a large box of candies or other treats to share with your research lab group. Don’t forget a small gift for your lab secretary, too. These are the people who have likely made housing and other logistical arrangements on your behalf.

Gift Giving in Japan

Temiyage and Omiyage

In order to thank somebody, one often presents a gift (temiyage), such as Japanese sweets or sake. Similarly, when a Japanese person returns from a trip, he or she brings home souvenirs (omiyage) to friends, co-workers and relatives. In Japan, tourist sites are generally surrounded by many omiyage shops specializing in souvenir gifts, often in the form of beautifully wrapped and packaged foods. Bring gifts from your home-town or home state for your lab group, and if you take a weekend trip during the internship period, be sure to bring back omiyage for your lab. It is best to bring perishable/edible gifts as most Japanese houses are very small and don’t have a lot of extra space.

All students must pay for their own transportation between their host city and departure airport. You can check in using the self service check-in machine at the airport but will need to input your ANA confirmation number or simply show your itinerary and ID at the ANA ticket counter. Use Hyperdia.com to determine your best route to the airport to ensure you arrive at least 1 1/2 hours before departure.

The 3rd International Symposium on Microwave/Terahertz Science and Applications (MTSA 2015) will be held at Okinawa Institute of Science and Technology, in Okinawa, Japan, during June 30 (Tuesday) to July 4 (Saturday) in 2015. This symposium provides a forum for the exchange of information on the basic science, technology, and applications in microwave to terahertz wave region. In addition to covering all aspects of science and technology in this frequency range, the symposium will also encourage the combination with the industrial applications. Moreover, this symposium will be held in combination with The 6th International Symposium on Terahertz Nanoscience (TeraNano 6), offering the opportunity to promote the interdisciplinary domain between MW/MMW/THz technologies and nanotechnology. This symposium will also place special emphasis on international exchanges for students and young researchers in this highly interdisciplinary fields.

We suggest arranging a taxi to take you to either the Moon Beach Hotel or the Rizzan Sea Park Hotel where you can purchase a day pass for visitors at the front desk to use their beach and facilities. They have wide sandy beaches that are perfect for relaxing at and also have restaurants inside and a convenience store where you can purchase snacks/drinks as well. Please do not try to use the resort beach without paying the visitor fee, this is something you should plan on/budget for.

You will need to arrange a taxi on your own from the Seaside House to go to the hotel resort. The Security guard will be able to help arrange the taxi or you can call the taxi company (toll free 0120-23-5477) to arrange the taxi. They speak only Japanese.

Moon Beach Hotel: Recommended by Dani-sensei as a nicer beach that Rizzan though slightly farther away. Day pass is 500 JPY. See the JapanGuide overview of Moon Beach at http://www.japan-guide.com/e/e7119.html and http://www.moonbeach.co.jp/international/english.html for the Moon Beach hotel website.

Rizzan Sea Park Hotel: Closer to OIST but the day pass fee is 1,000 JPY. See http://www.rizzan.co.jp/english/

Research Internships - Part II

Preparing Your RQI Poster and Abstract

During the second half of the research internship period, you will begin working on your Rice Quantum Institute Research Poster and Abstract. You will have to submit draft versions of these documents to your Japanese Research Host Professor and your U.S. PIRE co-advisor for revisions and feedback. Carefully review the applicable assignments in OwlSpace.

Getting Ready to Leave Your Lab & Shipping Your Large Luggage (Takuhaibin)

While some students may need to check out of their housing on Thursday evening (if you are billed on a monthly basis), It is not uncommon for labs to have a going-away party or dinner for you on Friday night. Speak with your lab about your departure so they know what your last housing date is and plan to stay until Friday or Saturday morning as you will likely have a small party, dinner, or get-together with your labmates on your last night in your host city.

* Takuhaibin: Before your last day in the lab, ask someone to help you ship your large luggage directly to Sanuki Club hotel. You do not want to have to lug all of your heavy suitcase with you during your last weekend in Japan. Only pack what you need for the next few days in a small carry-on bag or backpack. Be sure to ask your dorm/housing manager about check-out procedures in advance and make sure that your room is left clean and all keys and return items you have borrowed.

SANUKI CLUB ADDRESS ~ 11-9 MITA 1-CHOME, MINATO-KU, TOKYO, 108-0073 ~ TEL. 03-3455-5551

August 1 - 2, 2015 - Last Weekend in Japan!

Optional Student Organized Hike of Mt. Fuji

* Climbing Mt. Fuji*

It has become a NanoJapan tradition that all students meet back up to hike Mt. Fuji together the last weekend in Japan. This is a student-led, student-organized trip. Climbing Mount Fuji (3776 meters), Japan’s highest and most prominent mountain, can make for lifelong memories. The mountain itself may look more attractive from afar than from close up, but the views on clear days and the experience of climbing through the early morning hours among hundreds of equally minded hikers from across the world, are very rewarding. Plan to meet up late Saturday afternoon at the Fujinomiya 5th Station (Shizuoka Prefecture) and hike Fuji Saturday night so you can see the sunrise on Sunday. Remember that Prof. Mittleman wants to join you! His email is daniel@rice.edu.

By Sunday Evening

* Return to Tokyo and Check in to Sanuki Club Hotel

A room has been reserved on your behalf for the nights of August 3 & 4 at a rate of ~6,000 JPY/night (including breakfast). Use your stipend funds to pay for your hotel these two nights.
Monday, August 3, 2015

by Evening
Return to Tokyo and/or Sanuki Club Hotel
We strongly recommend you stay at the Sanuki Club Hotel on Monday night. You will need to make this reservation on your own and pay individually (~5,800 JPY/night). The Sanuki Club has become very popular, so we recommend making this reservation during the three-week orientation at the start of summer so you know you have a place to stay in Tokyo on Monday night. If you wait too long there may be no rooms available at Sanuki and you will then need to make other lodging arrangements for Monday night. It is much, much easier to stay at Sanuki as then you can send your luggage there via Takuhaibin (baggage delivery services) if you will be spending your last weekend sight-seeing in Japan.

Evening
Free - Enjoy Your Last Night in Tokyo!

Tuesday, August 4, 2015

Morning
Breakfast at Sanuki Club Hotel

by 8:30 AM
Meet in Sanuki Club Lobby
If you did not stay at the Sanuki Club hotel Monday night, you must be at the hotel by this time to confirm the time and location of your OPI with Packard-sensei.

8:40 - 12:00 PM
Japanese Oral Proficiency Interviews at Sanuki Club Hotel or AJALT Office
All students must complete a Japanese Oral Proficiency Interview prior to departure to assess the gains you have made in your spoken Japanese language proficiency over the course of the summer. This is a simple conversation in Japanese between you and the AJALT tester. There is no written component and nothing that you need to prepare. Exact time and location TBA.

by 1:00 PM
Bus Departs Sanuki Club Hotel for Narita Airport
Packard-sensei will confirm the exact departure time for you.

by 2:35 PM
Check-in for United Flight #6 at Narita Airport - Terminal 1

4:35 PM
United Flight #2 Departs Narita - Gain one day as you cross the international date line.

2:50 PM
Arrival at Bush Intercontinental Airport (IAH)
- Clear immigration as a group and then collect baggage and clear customs together.

4:15 PM
Rice University Shuttle Pick-up Outside Terminal E - Ground Transportation
Look for the Rice University shuttle outside Terminal E. Your driver is Chandler. His phone number is [masked]. Call Sarah at [masked] if there are any difficulties.

~ 5:30 PM
Hotel Check-in: Residence Inn Houston Medical Center/Reliant Park, 7710 South Main Street · Houston, Texas, 77030
Double-occupancy Hotel room and taxes only paid by NanoJapan for Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday night. Daily buffet breakfast is included.

Afternoon & Evening: NanoJapan Student Flights Back Home

You must arrange and pay for your own transportation to the airport. Allow at least one hour to get from Rice to either airport. It is recommended that you arrive at least 90 minutes prior to departure for domestic flight check-in.

- Shuttle Service: We recommend Super Shuttle http://www.supershuttle.com. You can book this online and pay with a credit/debit card. Use discount code Owls1 for Rice discount.
- Taxis: If you are departing close to the same time as another NanoJapan student it may be faster and cheaper to share a cab to the hotel. Call Yellow Cab at 713-236-1111 to arrange for your cab. Most cabs in Houston take credit/debit cards, and the flat fare from the Rice/Medical Center to IAH is ~$51 + a $3.75 departure fee and fuel surcharge, and from Rice/Medical Center to HOU it is ~$27 + a $2.25 departure fee and fuel surcharge.
- Pick-up Address: Duncan Hall, Rice University, 6100 Main St., Houston, TX 77005. This is building 26 on the campus map. The driver can use entrances 2 or 1 off of Main St.

International ATMs in Japan
7-11: All 7-11 stores in Japan have international ATMs and many are open 24 hours. 7-11 ATMs accept cards with a Visa, Plus, American Express, JCB, Union Pay, Discover or Diner’s Club logo. If your card has a MasterCard or Cirrus logo, check the machine as they have changed their policy a number of times and we are not sure if 7-11 ATMs currently accept these cards. If not, you will need to access funds from a post office ATM (see below).

Post Offices: Post offices in Japan have international ATMs and accept cards bearing the Visa, MasterCard, Maestro, Cirrus, American Express, Diners Club, JCB, China Unionpay and Discover logos. Hours are limited, so be sure to plan ahead and take out cash early so you aren’t stuck late at night or on a holiday with no money. Banks: The ATMs at most banks will not work as these are for Japan’s domestic banking system only but you can withdraw money from a US banking account at any Citibank ATM.

Use of Cash
Japan is a cash-based society and you will use cash for almost all of your daily purchases. High-end restaurants, large department stores, electronics stores, and hotels will take credit cards but for daily purchases cash is king. When you arrive in Japan, you will have time to exchange money or withdraw JPY from an international ATM. If you need to exchange USD into JPY later you can do so at the hotel front desk or a nearby bank. We recommend you keep the equivalent of USD $100 - $150 in JPY on you at all times while you are in Japan. This will ensure that you have sufficient cash for subway transportation, that you have sufficient cash for food/daily purchases, and that in a pinch you have sufficient cash to take a taxi home late at night if you miss the last train.

Banking Hours in Japan & Traveler’s Checks
Most banks are open Monday to Friday, 9:00 AM to 3:00 PM and most are closed on Saturday and Sunday. If you need to exchange traveler’s checks, you will likely have to visit a bank during regular operating hours Monday through Friday. There are very few international banks in Japan - almost all are domestic bank branches. However, listed below are a few of the major international banks and the website where you can find their nearest branch.

Sending Money to Japan via Western Union ~ http://www.westernunion.co.jp/en/
Western Union recently re-opened in Japan, making it much easier for your family or friends to send you money in Japan if needed. The easiest and fastest way for them to get money to you will still likely be to deposit it into your bank account and then you can withdraw these funds from an international ATM, but if your ATM card is lost or stolen, this could be a fast and easy way to send you money in Japan. Western Union services are available at Family Mart ATMs. For more information on how to receive money in Japan via Western Union, see http://www.westernunion.co.jp/en/how_to_receive_money.php.
Budget Sightseeing ~ http://www.japan-guide.com/e/e2028_sightseeing.html

Free Sightseeing Options

- Kyoto: Fushimi Inari Shrine, the Imperial palaces and villas (Kyoto Imperial Palace, Sento Palace, Katsura Villa, Shugakuin Villa), Nishiki Market, walking the Philosopher’s Path and exploring the historic districts around Gion and Kiyomizudera.
- Nara: Yoshikien (foreigners only), Heijo Palace and strolling through Nara Park and Naramachi.
- Yokohama: Kirin Beer Village and exploring Minato Mirai and Chinatown and the pleasant waterfront promenade in between, featuring Osanbashi Pier and Yamashita Park.
- Hiroshima: Hiroshima Peace Park with its almost free museum (50 yen), Mazda Museum and climbing Misen and visiting Daishoin Temple on nearby Miyajima.
- Kamakura: Tsurugaoka Hachimangu, walking the hiking trails and washing money at Zeniarai Benten.
- Nagoya: Atsuta Shrine, Osu Kannon Temple and joining a Toyota Factory Tour.
- Hakone: Owakudani, Hakone Shrine and Gora Park (Hakone Free Pass holders only).

Discounted Sightseeing Options

- Discounts for Foreigners: Keep an eye out for discounts offered to foreigner travelers, such as some Tobu Nikko Free Passes that combine travel and admission to the sights of Nikko and Kinugawa. Other notable discounts for foreigners include free admission to all the prefectural sites in Nara and discounted admission to selected attractions around Matsue. So called “Welcome Cards” provide foreign visitors with discounts and small gifts in various regions of Japan. There currently exist such cards among others for the northern Tohoku Region, Narita, the Mount Fuji area, Kagawa Prefecture and Fukuoka. Check out tourist information centers to find out what deals are available, and note that you may need to present your passport to qualify for the discounts.
- Coupons: Some tourist attractions, such as museums, theme parks and public baths, distribute coupons at local tourist information centers and hotels to be picked up and used freely by tourists. Some of these coupons can also be found as printable online versions, posted on their websites (and usually linked from the corresponding page of our sightseeing guide).
- Combination Tickets: Some places offer combination tickets that combine admission to two or more attractions in one area at a discounted cost. A popular example is the combination ticket to Nikko’s shrines and temples, which offers substantial savings (and convenience) over paying individually. Check our sightseeing guide for local details.
- Grutt Museum Pass: The Grutt Museum Pass provides free or discounted admission to over 60 museums and zoos in the Tokyo area. The pass costs 2000 yen and is sold from April through January at participating museums and zoos and at selected convenience stores and travel agents. The pass is valid for two months from its first use. A similar pass exists for the Kansai Region.

Shopping:
The easiest way to save money on shopping is to not go shopping at all, or at the very least to limit yourself to window shopping. But realistically most travelers will want to do some shopping if only to buy souvenirs for their friends and relatives or themselves. The following are some other shopping tips:
- 100 yen shops are a found all over Japan and sell a wide range of products for 105 yen per item (100 yen plus 5 percent consumption tax) including candy, stationary, household goods and tools. And they are popular with travelers since they usually carry a good selection of Japanese souvenirs, such as chopsticks, bowls and sake sets that are of surprisingly good quality and considerably cheaper than at regular souvenir shops.
- Sales: There are two major sale seasons per year in Japan, one beginning in December and another around June. A popular item during these sales are lucky bags (fukubukuro), which cost anywhere from 5,000 to 30,000 yen or more. While the contents are a mystery, the value of the items inside is supposed to be worth more than the price tag.
- Duty Free Shopping: Visitors to Japan can have the 5% consumption tax waived when spending more than 10,001 yen in one day at one store. Consumption tax exemption is only available at licensed stores, typically department stores and large chain electronics stores in larger cities, and does not apply to the purchase of cosmetics, food, alcohol, cigarettes, medicine, film and batteries. Be aware of eventual import limits of your home country in order to avoid being charged duty fees by customs upon returning home.
It is not necessary to starve yourself to save money when traveling in Japan, as it is easy to find a wide selection of cheap, quality meals throughout the country. The extremely budget conscious could thrive on as little as 1500 to 2000 yen per day on food without sacrificing much variety or their health.

Also when shopping around for accommodation, consider hotel and tour packages that include meals with the stay. Minshuku and ryokan usually include both dinner and breakfast, hotels tend to have various meal plans, and business hotels, manga kissa and capsule hotels often include a complimentary light breakfast.

Finally, consider making lunch your main meal of the day. Many restaurants offer inexpensive set menus (teishoku) for around 1000 yen during the lunch hours, while lunch boxes (bento) are available for around 500 yen or less. Higher class restaurants also have less expensive lunch options, making it a great way to check out places that may otherwise be outside of your budget.

- Konbinis (Convenience Stores): Convenience stores are open 24 hours a day, and can be found virtually anywhere in Japan, resulting in inexpensive meals always being close at hand. Convenience stores offer a selection of fresh sandwiches and rice balls (onigiri), snacks, sweets, bakery items, sushi, noodles, lunch boxes, alcohol and other drinks. Thanks to the fierce competition between convenience store chains, the quality of many food items is surprisingly high.

- Supermarkets: Japanese supermarkets are comparable to those found in Western countries and offer much of the same items including fresh fruits and vegetables, seafood, meat, canned and dry foods, drinks, alcohol and prepared foods. Imported foods are also widely available, but expect them to be more expensive than back home. While easily found in the suburbs and smaller towns, (normally priced) supermarkets are rare in the centers of large cities. Note that many supermarkets begin to mark down their unsold lunch items around 14:00 and their other prepared foods from around 19:00. Discounts start off at a modest 10 to 20 percent, but progressively increase until closing and may end up as high as 50 to 70 percent. Many supermarkets also discount fruits and vegetables that are either blemished, overripe or otherwise not fit for sale at full price.

- Fast Food: Japan has a lot of international fast food chains such as McDonald’s and Kentucky Fried Chicken, as well as many Japanese chains that specialize in one type of dish such as gyudon, udon, soba, ramen, curry or boxed meals (bento). Among these chains are the Yoshinoya, Sukiya, and Matsuya gyudon chains, Hanamaru Udon, Coco Curry House, and the Hokka Hokka Tei and Hotto Motto lunch box chains. Low budget conveyor belt sushi chains could also be listed under this category. The cost of a meal rarely exceeds 1000 yen per person.

- Family Restaurants: Family restaurants are another type of restaurant that are a modest step up from fast food establishments, yet still offer a quality selection of inexpensive meals. Chains such as Gusto, Coco’s, Royal Host and Denny’s offer a wide variety of Western and Japanese dishes, while Saizeriya is popular for its cheap and filling Italian food and Bamiyan for its Chinese dishes.

- Business Districts and Train Stations: Especially during lunch hours the competition is fierce among restaurants in large business districts, resulting in competitive prices for filling set meals (around 1000 yen) or lunch boxes (around 500 yen), the latter of which are sometimes sold at temporarily erected stands. Large business districts and busy railway stations also usually offer a wide range of small fast food restaurants, where you can easily have a full meal for under 1000 yen.
More than 40,000 convenience stores, known as konbini, can be found across Japan. Strong competition between the major operators, such as Seven Eleven, Lawson and Family Mart, constantly produces new innovative products and services and makes Japanese convenience stores truly convenient. Most convenience stores are open 24 hours a day and 7 days a week.

Goods offered
- Convenience stores primarily sell food including a large range of meals, snacks and sweets, such as onigiri (rice balls), sandwiches, bread, chips, candy, obento (lunch boxes), instant ramen, microwave meals and hot foods like fried chicken, nikuman and oden. Some cold foods, such as onigiri, can be heated up by the store staff.
- The stores also sell all kinds of hot and cold beverages including soda, coffee, tea, water, sport drinks, juice, milk and vitamin drinks. The selection changes frequently and often varies by season as well. Many convenience stores also sell alcoholic beverages including beer, happoshu, chuahai, nihonshu, shochu and wine.
- Other goods available include body care products, cosmetics, batteries, blank CDs and tapes, umbrellas, newspapers, magazines and comics. Some stores, particularly outside of the city centers, have a toilet.

Services offered
- Convenience stores also offer a wide range of services, many of which can be accessed through automated multi-purpose terminals (the user menu is usually in Japanese only):
  - ATM: ATMs offer various banking services and often also serve as the above mentioned multi-purpose terminals. Foreign credit and debit cards are usually not recognized by the ATMs found in convenience stores, except at 7-Eleven.
  - Copier/Fax: A copy machine and fax is available at most convenience stores. If not the ATM, it is usually the copy machine which serves as the store’s multi-purpose terminal.
  - Ticket Reservations: Tickets for sport events, concerts, theme parks, highway buses and other travel services can be purchased at the multi-purpose terminal.
  - Digital Camera Prints: You can get prints of digital pictures by inserting your camera’s memory card into the multi-purpose terminal. Depending on the store, the prints will be ready instantly or can be picked up later.
  - Bill Payment: Many bills, including utility, cell phone and insurance bills, can be paid at convenience stores.
  - Delivery Services: At many stores, it is possible to drop off or pick up deliveries (takuhaibin), such as parcels or luggage. A limited range of postal services, such as the sale of post cards and stamps, is also available.
Beginners Guide to Supermarket Shopping in Japan

When I first came to Japan I had no knowledge of Japanese and zero understanding of a country’s language means that at any time, a normal day to day task can turn into a frustrating experience because you just can’t beat the language/cultural barrier involved.

For me, this happened most often in the supermarket. I can still remember the heartbreak of my third day in Japan; desperate for a taste of home, I bought some strawberry donuts to cheer myself up. Instantly revitalized, I rushed home to eat them, only to find out when I bit into them that they weren’t filled with strawberry, but Red Bean Paste. Now Red Bean Paste has grown on me since then, but at the time it felt like the final straw on an already difficult day.

Everyone who has lived in Japan long enough will have similar stories to this (look no further than GaijinPot’s own Grace Mineta’s article for another example) and in some ways it is just a part of the overall process of acclimatizing to a new country.

Having said that, the more you know starting out, the fewer times you have to go home frustrated, so here is everything I’ve learnt since coming to Japan when it comes to supermarkets.

Let’s start by focusing on the supermarket themselves. In many ways Japanese supermarkets are exactly the same as those in any other country, but they also differ in one or two ways too. Firstly, most supermarkets in Japan are actually better described as grocery stores, in that they exclusively sell food. Don’t go in expecting to buy bubble bath, a razor and a few cheap t-shirts because most supermarkets just won’t stock these kinds of items.

Secondly, most average supermarkets in Japan are somewhat limited when it comes to exotic foods. There are plenty of fruits and vegetables on the shelves but if you are looking for something specific that isn’t already a part of Japan’s culinary landscape, you may have to search a little harder for it.

Import/export shops, dedicated exotic food stores or, in my experience, the high quality supermarkets attached to department stores may all shave the items you seek, but an average supermarket probably won’t.

Finally, Japan is known for being in tune with the different seasons and nowhere is this more obvious than in supermarkets. For example, if you want strawberries in January you are probably going to search a little bit longer, and pay a little bit more for them than you would if you wanted them at other times of the year. That isn’t to say that it is impossible; only that picking up a bag of mikans (tangerines) will be easier and cheaper during mikan season.

This brings us on to the language barrier. It doesn’t matter how good you are at guessing what’s inside the packaging, or how many pictures you look at on the box, at some point you will come up against the language barrier involved in supermarket shopping. So here is a list of some essential ingredients, their kanji and how to read them in hiragana and English. Hopefully this will help you avoid mixing up the sugar and the salt.

Any vegetarian or person with allergies will tell you that it isn’t enough just to know what something is, you also sometimes need to know what is inside your food. Here is a breakdown of two common Japanese labels to help you understand more about what you are buying.

The label above is used to explain what allergies may be triggered by the product if consumed. The allergies that could be triggered are written in black on the yellow background (this product is not suitable for those with allergies to dairy, wheat or soy). Most processed foods will have this sign, or one similar to it, to let you know of the possible dangers for those with allergies. Keep your eyes out for these signs but also be aware some products simply don’t have an allergy warning.
Next is the label explaining the origin and important information regarding a supermarket’s fresh produce. A Japanese food label will tell you what a product is, its quantity, its price and, most importantly, its storage instructions and its expiration date.

So that’s it! This is everything I have learnt about supermarket shopping over my time in Japan. It is by no means a complete guide and I learn of new ingredients; and the kanji for them, every day. If you are already a seasoned pro when it comes to food shopping, please feel free to add to this guide by adding in the comment section below.

UPDATE: If you need to avoid eating any gluten in your diet you can print this card out http://www.celiactravel.com/file_uploads/cards/japanese-gluten-free-restaurant-card.pdf japanese cuisine offers a great variety of dishes and regional specialties. some of the most popular japanese and japatone dishes are listed below. they are categorized below into rice dishes, seafood dishes, noodle dishes, sashimi, meat dishes, soybean dishes, yakisoba dishes, and other dishes. please note that some dishes may fall into multiple categories. however, we list them only once.

rice dishes

for over 2000 years, rice has been the most important food in japanese cuisine. despite changes in eating patterns over the last few decades and slowly decreasing rice consumption in recent years, rice remains one of the most important ingredients in japonese.

fried rice (chahan)
fried rice, or chahan, is a dish that was originally introduced from china. there are an infinite variety of ingredients that can be added to fried rice. some common ones are peas, egg, green onions (negi), carrots and pork. chahan is a suitable dish for using left over rice.

chazuke (oshazuke)
chazuke, or oshazuke, is another simple comfort food consisting of hot water, tea, or fresh fish stock poured over rice (sometimes made with leftover rice). chazuke is often garnished with toppings such as umeboshi, grilled salmon, or pickles. chazuke is commonly served at otsukuri, and is a popular dish to eat after drinking.

kayu
kayu, or okinaw, is japanese rice porridge made by slow cooking rice in lots of water. it tends to be thicker than other types of rice porridge or gruel, and is a suitable dish for using left over rice. kayu is often garnished with umeboshi, and is commonly served to sick people because it is easily digestible.

seafood dishes

hundreds of different fish, shellfish and other seafood from the oceans, seas, lakes and rivers are used in the japanese cuisine. they are prepared and eaten in many different ways, such as raw, dried, boiled, grilled, deep fried or alcoholic.

sashimi
sashimi is raw seafood. a large number of fish can be enjoyed raw if they are fresh and prepared correctly. three types of sashimi are enjoyed with soy sauce and wasabi.

takazuke
yatsukazuke means grilled fish. many varieties of fish are enjoyed in this way, including salmon (saba), salmon (sake), mackerel pike (samma), horse mackerel (agi), okhotsk alha mackerel (kukke), sea bream (Tai) and saecifish (kayo).

noodle dishes

there are various traditional japanese noodle dishes as well as some dishes which were introduced to japan and subsequently japanized. noodle dishes are very popular in japan, and are served both hot and cold depending on the season. noodle restaurants and food stands are ubiquitous, and it is common to find noodle stands along train stations.

soba
soba are native japanese noodles made of buckwheat flour four or a mixture of buckwheat and wheat flour. udon are more like udon, are served at hot or cold and with various toppings such as noodles (katsuo udon), tempura (temura udon), and mountain vegetables (sanma udon).
Popular Dishes in Japan

Ramen
Ramen Chinese-style noodles prepared in a soup with various toppings. Ramen is one of the many popular dishes that were originally introduced from China but have become completely Japanized over time.

Somen
Somen are Japanese noodles made of wheat flour, but they are much thinner than Udon and Soba. Somen are usually eaten cold and are considered a summer specialty.

Yakisoba
Yakisoba are grilled or fried Chinese-style noodles mixed with pieces of meat, cabbage, carrots, or other vegetables, and garnished with red ginger. It is a popular festival food.

Nabe Dishes
Nabe, or hot pot dishes, are prepared in a hot pot, usually at the table. Typical ingredients are vegetables such as negi (Japanese leek) and hakusai (Chinese cabbage), various mushrooms, seafood, and/or meat. These nabe dishes are:

Oden
A nabe dish prepared with various fish victuals, vegetables, boiled eggs, and kombu seaweed, simmered in a soy sauce-based soup. Oden is a popular dish available at convenience stores in the winter.

Sukiyaki
A nabe dish prepared with thinly sliced meat, vegetables, mushrooms, tofu, and shiratama (tonkatsu noodles) simmered in a sweet soy sauce broth. The pieces of food are dipped into raw beaten egg before being eaten.

Shabu Shabu
Shabu shabu is a Japanese-style hot pot where slices of thinly sliced meat, seafood, vegetables, mushrooms, and tofu are cooked by dipping them into hot soup. The bite-sized pieces are then dipped into ponzu citrus or sesame sauce before being eaten.

Chanko Nabe
Chanko nabe is the traditional staple diet of sumo wrestlers. There are many varieties of chanko nabe, which can be tried at one of the several specialty chanko nabe restaurants found around Ryogoku, the sumo district of Tokyo.

Yakitori
Yakitori are skewered grilled chicken pieces seasoned with salt or sauce. Almost every part of the chicken is used for yakitori including the white and dark meat, gizzards, skin, and other organs.

Tonkatsu
Tonkatsu are deep-fried pork cutlets. Tonkatsu is usually served accompanied by steamed rice, cabbage, and sauce (tonkatsu sauce). It is also a common addition to Japanese-style curry rice (katsu kare).

Yakiniku
Yakiniku literally means “grilled meat” and refers to grilling bite-size pieces of meat — mostly beef and pork — on a grill at the table. Specialized yakiniku restaurants are among the most popular restaurants in Japan and usually serve a wide variety of meat parts at multiple quality (and cost) levels.

Nikujaga
Nikujaga is a popular dish of home-style cooking made of sweet steamed meat (niku) and vegetables (jaga).

Teppanyaki
Teppanyaki is a hot plate of meat and vegetables prepared on a large iron griddle (teppan) around which the dishes are seated. The chef skillfully prepares the dishes in front of his customers.

Soybean Dishes
Soyu, natto, miso, and many other important ingredients of Japanese cooking are made of soybeans. The following are some of the most popular soybean-based dishes:

Hiyayakko
Hiyayakko is a fresh chilled tofu (usually soft tofu) commonly garnished with grated ginger, katsubuoshi (shaved bonito flakes), and green onions and seasoned with soy sauce. Diners should pour a little soy sauce over the tofu before eating it if it did not come already seasoned.

Yudofu
Yudofu are tofu pieces boiled in a clear, mild soup and dipped into soy sauce or ponzu (citrus sauce) before being eaten. Yudofu is a specialty of Kyoto and is commonly served during the colder winter months.

Agedashi Tofu
Agedashi Tofu is made of lightly breaded tofu which is fried and served hot in a dashi soy sauce broth and garnished with green onions or grated daikon. Agedashi tofu can be found in a variety of restaurants and is common zashoku food.
Miso Soup
Miso soup is made by dissolving miso paste in dish stock (dashi). Common additions include wakame seaweed, small pieces of tofu, and sliced shiitake, etc.

Yoshoku Dishes
A large number of Western dishes have been introduced to Japan over the centuries. Many of them have become completely Japanese, and are referred to as Yoshoku dishes. Some of the most popular ones are:

Korokke (more info)
Korokke has its origins in the croquettes which were introduced to Japan in the 19th century. Korokke consist of a filling that is breaded and deep fried, and are eaten with a Worcestershire tomato sauce and shredded cabbage. They come in many varieties depending on the region, but the most common or which is a mix of minced meat and mashed potatoes.

Omuraisu
Omuraisu, short for omelette rice, is fried rice wrapped in a thin egg omelette. Omuraisu is usually shaped like an American football and may be garnished with ketchup or demi-glace sauce. It is a common diner or cafe food, although specialty omuraisu restaurants also exist.

Hayashi Railau
Hayashi rice is Japanese-style hashed beef stew, thinly sliced beef and onions in a demi-glace sauce served over or along side cooked rice. It resembles hayashi rice, and, like hayashi rice, is also eaten with a spoon.

Hambagu
Hambagu is Japanese style hamburger steak (as opposed to hamburg, which are hamburgers in a bun). Hambagu is usually served on a plate along side vegetables and rice or bread, and seasoned with a demi-glace sauce.

Other Dishes
Bento
Bento, or boxed meals, are inexpensive, single portion take out meals served in a box. They usually consist of small portions of meat, vegetables, fish, or pickles together with rice. Bento come in both hot and cold varieties and are sold at specialty restaurants, supermarkets, and convenience stores, and are a favorite item at train stations (shinkansen) and airports (kansai).

Tempura (more info)
Tempura consists of seafood, vegetables, mushrooms, or meat coated with batter and deep fried. The resulting food has a light, but crispy texture, that may be seasoned with salt or dipped in a light sauce before eating. Tempura was introduced to Japan by the Portuguese in the 16th century, and has become one of Japan's most famous dishes internationally.

Okonomiyaki (more info)
Okonomiyaki is a type of pancake where various ingredients such as seafood, vegetables, and meat are mixed into a batter and grilled. Okonomiyaki specialty restaurants have a large hotplate built into the table where the patrons cook their own food.

Monjayaki
Monjayaki is a Kanto region specialty that is similar to okonomiyaki; however, the batter used is much thinner than okonomiyaki resulting in a moister, less uniform dish. Monjayaki is often served at okonomiyaki restaurants.

Gyoza (more info)
Gyoza are dumplings stuffed with a filling made of minced vegetables and ground meat. Gyoza were introduced to Japan from China. Japanese gyoza are usually prepared by frying them, and are commonly served as a side dish in ramen.

Chawanmushi
Chawanmushi is savory steamed egg custard that usually contains slices of chicken, shrimp, fish cake and a ginko nut mixed inside. It is served in a small, lidded cup, and eaten with a spoon.

Pickles (more info)
Japanese pickles, or tsukemono, come in many varieties, and are served as an appetizer, side dish, or snack, or used as a garnish or topping. They are thought to aid in digestion, and a small dish of pickles is usually served with traditional Japanese meals.
Finding a short term place to stay in Japan can be expensive. GaijinPot has a listing of short term apartments (http://apartments.gaijinpot.com/en/short-term/listing) but if even these prices are too high for you, I have listed 10 options below for free or very cheap places to stay in Japan.

1. Internet Cafes / Comic Book Cafes / Manga Kissaten

Price: Around 800 yen to 1,500 yen per night (5 to 8 hours)

I stumbled upon this option one desperate night, having missed the last train home. The only hotel in sight was a Hilton, and since that was beyond my budget I took to the streets.

As luck would have it, there was a comic book cafe/internet cafe, which are known as “manga kissa” (漫画喫茶) or “manga kissaten” in Japanese, right down the street.

I walked into the dark building and was greeted by a large room filled with computer cubicles, nerdy-looking guys and shelves upon shelves of comic books. The receptionist told me it would be 1500 yen for a five hour stay with a private cubical. This also included unlimited access to the comic books, a shower, and all the soda I could drink.

I was sold. I grabbed a Calpis, took a quick look at the comic books, and then headed to my cubical to check my e-mail. The cafe was surprisingly quiet and since my cubical had a very comfy chair, so I was easily able to fall asleep.

A number of internet cafes have a “long stay” option, where you can go in and out of the internet cafe freely if you pay a set amount per week or month. I’ve been told that a small number of internet cafes even have beds. I did not take advantage of the shower, but I now feel like a more worldly person for the experience of sleeping in an internet cafe. Next time you find yourself without a place to sleep, ask around for a manga kissa.

2. Hostels

Price: From free to about 6,000 yen per night

The traditional refuge of the traveling poor (read: students), hostels are great places to stay in Tokyo. Personally, I mostly use Hostel World to book, but there are a ton of other sites, so be sure to shop around.

Unfortunately, I’ve heard that the hostel community in Japan just isn’t as vibrant and the travelers aren’t as social as in many other parts of the world. Overall, I’ve found Japanese hostels to be clean, well-staffed, and quiet (if that’s what you prefer).

As with any accommodation, it’s a good idea to check the reviews, hostel rules, and location, since there are a few bad apples, a few rather early curfews, and a few hostels that are far away from tourist sites.

That’s the “almost free” part. Now, on to the free part!

If you are familiar with hostels, you may know about the practice of volunteer work exchange, where you do cleaning or other tasks at the hostel for a small, set amount of time in exchange for a free or reduced price lodging.

Just to clear up any confusion about tourist visas ahead of time, the Ministry of Foreign Affairs of Japan states that a tourist visa covers stays for “tourism…etc. that does not include paid activities”. However, please contact the hostel and immigration ahead of time to make sure of requirements and details.

3. WWOOF Japan (and Other Volunteer Accommodations)

Price: 5,500 yen for a one year membership

Less an accommodation, more an experience. WWOOF stands for “World Wide Opportunities on Organic Farms” and is a volunteer work exchange program. You work at a host family’s home, business, or farm on average about 6 hours a day, 6 days a week (although this varies with the host) in exchange for food and accommodation.

The membership costs 5,500 yen for one year, and having paid that fee, you get access to the online list of hosts looking for volunteers.

The two months I spent WWOOFing in Japan were among the most amazing times of my life. Many of the hosts are organic (or striving-to-be-organic) farmers, and farm work isn’t always easy. However, the hosts often take the volunteers to famous sightseeing spots, parties, or other interesting events and cultural experiences, and it is a great way to meet people who like to travel a bit off the beaten path.

There are other websites and programs similar to WWOOF Japan, which aren’t as extensive as WWOOF but still seem to have a lot to offer.

4. Camping

Price: From free to about 8,000 yen per night

When you think of camping, this is possibly what most people imagine: bringing a tent or camper to a campground, renting an area to place said tent or camper, and spending fun times with your family/friends/lover/dog. Indeed, there are places like that in Japan as well. The cost to rent a space seems to be, on average, about 3,000 yen to 8,000 yen per night.

Yet this wasn’t quite the camping I was going for. Notice how the price I listed says, “from free…”

Slightly less legitimate than your typical bonfire-and-s’mores affair, this is a camping experience a WWOOFing couple told me about. Armed with a tent and Japanese learned from animated Miyazaki movies, the couple would attempt to hitchhike to their next WWOOFing location.

Whenever they were unable to get to the next scheduled location by nightfall, they would ask to be dropped off in a semi-populated area and then would proceed to ask local residents if they could pitch tent on their farmland. To my amazement, they said that they got permission a surprising number of times. If this bohemian way of traveling doesn’t intimidate you, it’s worth a try!

Not at all recommended and probably not even legal, is something called “nojuku”, which is basically just sleeping in a park or field. Equally cautioned against is “ekine”, which means to sleep at a station overnight. Those who have been to Japan before have without a doubt seen drunk businessmen or the homeless sleeping at the station, and there are even entire websites devoted to the endeavor. There are obvious dangers associated with this practice, one of which is having your picture taken by someone amused by your plight.

5. Couchsurfing
Price: Free

Couchsurfing is staying at a friend, family, or acquaintance’s dwelling for free, presumably sleeping on the couch, and the Couchsurfing website (https://www.couchsurfing.com/) has turned this into an art.

You create a free profile, filling in details such as name and hobbies and whether you are willing to host, and then you’re good to start sending messages to hosts requesting lodging. There are ways to get “verified,” by providing proof of identify, and a section for reviews, which make you look more trustworthy as a host and guest.

I’ve known some people who were lucky enough to find hosts who’d let them stay at their place for weeks or let guests have run of the house while the host was away on vacation. It’s really a fascinating project!

6. Overnight Buses
Price: About 2,500 yen to 11,000 yen one way (one night)

The overnight bus, known as “yako bus” (夜行バス) in Japanese, is probably going to be the most expensive suggestion on this list. I feel justified in adding it because, in addition to having a place to sleep, you’ll wake up in a place far away that could have easily cost you over 25,000 yen or more by bullet train.

Since I’m someone who can sleep just about anywhere, the night buses suit me just fine. The major cautions I have are to double check the departure and arrive times and get to the pick-up area early, since sometimes it is difficult to find where the bus is parked.

7. Homestays
Price: Free to about 50,000 yen per month

Home stays are a wonderful way to experience the Japanese lifestyle short-term and visit Japan without putting a strain on your budget. There are some websites devoted to matching travelers with households looking to host. Also, although homestays are often thought of as options only for students and the young but don’t let age be a factor in whether you look into doing a homestay, as there are many hosts happy to have you stay, regardless of age.

8. Capsule Hotels

Price: 2,000 yen to 5,000 yen per night (also available around 300 yen to 600 yen per hour for naps)

If you aren't too claustrophobic (or too tall), then a capsule hotel, might be just the right for you. In your capsule, you'll most likely have a TV, radio, alarm clock, reading light, and, of course, a bed. There are even curtains or little doors that you can close for privacy. Just try not to think about how you are mere inches from the person next to you, separated only by thin wall.

The only downside is that, because of safety and privacy issues, women typically aren't allowed at these hotels. The capsule hotels are most often found clustered around stations, since they are most popular among drunk business men who've missed the last train.

9. Economy Hotels

Price: 2,500 yen to 6,000 yen per night

Often advertised in English as hostels, economy hotels, known as kanshuku ("simple accommodations") in Japanese, are actually slightly different accommodations from hostels. While the bathrooms and dining areas are shared, all the rooms are private and typically are outfitted with tatami mats and futons.

Hotel rooms are generally small compared to US hotel rooms, and economy hotel rooms doubly so (although not as small as capsule hotels). At the one I stayed at in Tokyo, I could almost, but not quite, touch both walls while sitting in the middle of the room.

Still, they are a great deal for the price. The rooms often have TVs, a comfy futon, hangers, and sometimes a robe, and occasionally will have free breakfast.

Again, since economy hotels, like many other cheap accommodations in Japan, are aimed at traveling (or drunk) business men, they can be found clustered around stations.

10. Japan McDonald’s

Price: Free to about 700 yen (for one value meal)

You may think I’m joking about sleeping at McDonald’s in Japan, but, sadly, I’m not. One day, soaking wet from the rain, running on two hours of sleep, and miserable because my hotel reservation had been mixed up, I needed to sleep and since the hotel I had booked didn’t allow check-in until much later in the day, I wandered, dead-eyed, around the city.

Luckily, I stumbled upon a five-story McDonald’s. I looked up absently at the higher floors and that’s when I saw it: dozens of people asleep in their chairs in the McDonald’s upper floors. I couldn’t believe it. Needless to say, I rushed inside and ordered a shaka-shaka chicken, then made a beeline for the third floor, where I had seen the most people asleep. It turns out that many of the people there were students who had fallen asleep on their books. So, I got too it.

After eating my shaka-shaka chicken, I took out a book and promptly fell asleep. I got a good three or so hours of sleep there. I’m not proud of this fact, but I can honestly say McDonald’s saved my life — or at least my sanity. Seriously, thank you, McDonald’s.

Granted, fast food restaurants aren’t exactly the most recommended place to sleep, and it certainly could get you kicked out (actually, it is common practice in Japan to ask someone to leave a restaurant if they’ve been there for a long time and if there are people waiting, even at fast food places). So, while I can’t say that I advocate sleeping there, I will say that it is at least a good place to have a shaka-shaka chicken.

For one more extra suggestion, consider:

A popular option for students, dormitories in Japan are very similar to those on college campuses in the US, with individual rooms (although they may have the option for a roommate) and shared bathrooms and living areas. Dorms typically house students, college faculty, or factory workers — mainly people who are going to be staying for a month or longer.

However, several dormitories are available for non-students. Dormitories start at 30,000 yen per month for the cheapest. Dormitories are one of the more expensive options, but can be a deal if you plan to stay for a month or longer or stay in connection with studies or a job.

I hope that this list has given you an idea of the cheap accommodations options in Japan. Happy travels!
Budget Transportation

Transportation expenses will make up a considerable part of your travel budget. They consist of the cost for your flight to Japan as well as urban and possibly long distance transportation inside Japan. Careful planning of your itinerary can have a huge effect on your transportation budget. The most wallet friendly way of travel is to avoid the costs of long distance domestic travel altogether and concentrate on just one region or city. For example, limiting your visit to either the Kanto Region around Tokyo or the Kansai Region around Kyoto and Osaka rather than doing both in the same trip can save you tens of thousands of yen per person in transportation costs.

However, if you do wish to visit multiple regions of Japan, then the following collection of options and deals can save you some money:

• Japan Bus Pass: On sale since summer 2010, the Japan Bus Pass is a revolutionary pass for long distance bus travel in Japan. If used efficiently, the pass can reduce transportation costs to unbelievably low levels for those willing to spend some nights on a bus. The pass is available as a 3-day, 4-day and a 5-day version and does not need to be used on consecutive days.

• Japan Rail Pass: All foreign visitors to Japan who wish to visit more than one region should consider the Japan Rail Pass, which offers unlimited, nationwide travel on almost all trains operated by Japan Railways, including most shinkansen (bullet trains). The passes can be bought to cover either 7, 14 or 21 consecutive days, and at a cost that residents of Japan (who cannot use the pass) can only dream of.

• Highway Buses: Highway buses are one of the most economical ways to travel medium to long distances in Japan. While slower than trains, buses cost usually less than half, especially on the competitive Tokyo routes where discount fares can be incredibly low. Every prefecture is served by at least one bus company, with the major cities serving as regional hubs.

• Overnight buses further increase the cost-effectiveness by saving on a night’s accommodation and increasing your sightseeing time. Willer Express is one of the few highway bus companies with an English online reservation and payment system and highly competitive prices. They also offer the above mentioned Japan Bus Pass.

• Domestic Flights: Competition between discount airlines, regular airlines, railways and overnight buses has produced a wide range of discount air fares and has made air travel a competitive budget alternative on many long distance routes, especially on the competitive Tokyo and Osaka routes. Skymark Airlines, Peach Aviation, Jetstar Japan and Air Asia Japan offer particularly low fares and online booking in English. In addition to discount fares available to the general public, there exist air passes for exclusive use by foreign visitors. These air passes entitle holders to a flat rate of 10,000 to 13,000 yen per domestic flight, which can be a substantial saving over regular fares. Note, however, that the air passes cannot be used during certain blackout periods.

• Ferries: On a small number of routes, domestic ferries can be an alternative option to trains, buses and planes. Second class fares for ferries tend to be relatively inexpensive.

• Overnight Trains: Of the dwindling number of night trains left in Japan, few qualify as a budget travel option due to their relatively high fares and the fact that most are not fully covered by the Japan Rail Pass. However, there are some night trains that are worth considering as they offer seat classes that are completely covered by the Japan Rail Pass, namely the: Akebono (Tokyo - Aomori), Hamanasu (Aomori - Sapporo), Sunrise Izumo (Tokyo - Okayama - Izumo), Sunrise Seto (Tokyo - Okayama - Takamatsu). Also consider overnight trains classified as rapid trains, which are fully covered by both the Japan Rail Pass and the Seishun 18 Kippu: the Moonlight Nagara (Tokyo - Nagoya - Ogaki) and Moonlight Echigo (Tokyo - Niigata).

• Seishun 18 Kippu: The Seishun 18 Kippu (Seishun Juhachi Kippu), is a seasonal railway ticket, which gives you five days of unlimited, nationwide travel on local and rapid JR (Japan Railways) trains. It is available three times per year during the school holiday seasons and costs 11,500 yen. The ticket does not need to be used on consecutive days and can be split among multiple people, for example one person can use it on five days, or five people can share it on a single day. While the Seishun 18 Kippu is an excellent value purely in terms of cost, it cannot be used on the faster limited express trains or shinkansen, greatly limiting its practical usefulness, as travel by local trains is very time-consuming over long distances.
A large variety of rail passes exists in Japan, providing unlimited travel in a certain area, or a round trip to plus unlimited travel in a given region. Some of the best rail passes available are introduced below:

THE IMPORTANCE OF GIVING OMIYAGE

BY LISA HONG
While working or studying in Japan, many take the opportunity to travel around the country. However, some travelers are surprised to learn about the Japanese gift giving culture called Omiyage. Some foreigners find this expectation annoying, although they can often get away with not bringing back souvenirs by playing the “foreigner card”.

Even so, if one looks deeper into the Omiyage culture, it is actually quite sincere and generous. When the traveler brings something back from the region they have visited, he or she is sharing experiences via local specialty.

For me, taking part in giving Omiyage is about including and educating my friends, family, and co-workers. I love sharing what a particular region has to offer. In a few cases, friends were inspired to travel to that region themselves.

In my experience, the most crowd-pleasing Omiyage is shareable and edible, such as a box of sweets. This also happens to be the most convenient and cost-effective route for the gift-giver. Win-win!

Below is a list of well-traveled areas in Japan and simple Omiyage suggestions:
Okinawa

Benimo (purple sweet potato). You can find these in the form of cookies, cakes, tarts, Kit Kat’s, etc.

Goya (bitter melon). Usually served as a savory dish, fried with eggs and Spam. In gift format, you can offer it as a fun cookie flavor (the sugar alleviates the bitter taste).

Hiroshima

Lemon. Hiroshima produces the most in all of Japan. You can share this fact with others through lemon-flavored treats.

Momijimanju. Maple-leaf shaped cakes originally from Miyajima, where maple leaves run wild. Traditionally, the cakes are filled with sweet red bean, but you can find other flavors such as custard, chocolate, sesame, etc.

Kyoto

Matcha-flavored treats. Green tea powder is amazing in dessert format! You will find many varieties in Kyoto.

Yatsuhashi. A soft, flat, square piece of Mochi folded into a triangle, holding a dollop of sweet bean paste. Other flavors include sesame, Matcha, cinnamon, etc.

Mt. Fuji

You could offer a box of Mt. Fuji-shaped cookies, but note that Mt. Fuji is actually located in Yamanashi, and there are great many local flavors to be shared!

Seasonal Fruit Flavors. Yamanashi is a huge fruit growing area with many farms offering all-you-can-eat fruit picking. Share what’s in season through fruit-flavored snacks.

Shingen Mochi. Pillowy mochi cubes covered in Kinako (soybean powder) and brown sugar syrup. You may need to prepare this before serving.

Hakone

Sulfur Egg. Hakone is known for their hot springs and eggs boiled in sulfur water. While I don’t recommend bringing the eggs back from Hakone, I do suggest nose-friendly treats (cookies, cakes) that promise a hint of that sulfur so your friends don’t miss out.

Manju. Hakone is also known for their buckwheat soba noodles, so it would be appropriate to share Manju, which is a cake made of buckwheat and filled with sweet bean paste.

Izu Peninsula

Wasabi-flavored treats. Potato chips, crackers, Kit Kats, the list goes on. Shock and awe your friends!

Mikan (Mandarin Orange). You can find this flavor in candies and jellies, but if you're kind enough, bring a box of these easy-to-peel crowd pleasers.

Hokkaido

Snacks with milky or cheesy flavors. Hokkaido is Japan's Mecca for dairy production. Good dairy isn't easy to come by in Japan, so share the love!

Lavender. In the summer, visitors flock to Furano to view gorgeous purple fields. Bring some of that beauty back with Lavender-flavored sweets.

The same Omiyage rules apply for when you are returning from travel outside of Japan. You should've seen the look on my co-workers' faces when biting into Durian candy from Malaysia! But hey, it was authentic and made them more curious about that country.

After being exposed to Omiyage culture, sharing my travel experience through taste has become part of my coming-home routine. There is just something about local flavors that can really transport you to that region!

On Our Radar – Hand, foot and mouth disease

Since the beginning of 2015, a significant increase in cases of hand, foot and mouth disease (HFMD) has been recorded nationwide. Notifications are much higher than those expected for the season. HFMD is usually a relatively mild illness which mostly affects children under the age of 5. There is no vaccine.

Prevention
Maintain good personal hygiene and wash your hands frequently. Do not share personal items.

If you want to know more . . .
- About HFMD: see the Disease and Prevention article "Hand Foot and Mouth Disease" on the International SOS Country Guides
- About Japan: see the International SOS Country Guide
- Contact any International SOS assistance centre

Before you go

Routine Medical Care

- Obtain routine medical and dental care before you leave. All routine vaccinations should be current (polio; varicella; measles, mumps and rubella; tetanus, diphtheria and pertussis). In addition, see a travel health practitioner 6 to 8 weeks before departure. Some vaccinations require a series of doses spaced weeks apart. Some malaria medications should be taken a week or more before arriving in the malarial country.
- Arrange a copy of your personal health record to carry with you when you travel.
- Pack an ample supply of prescription and routine medications in their original packaging. Place them in your carry-on luggage, with copies of your prescription. Consider carrying a doctor’s note explaining your need for legal, non-prescription drugs you have packed - in English and the language of your destination(s).

Routine Vaccinations

- All routine vaccinations should be current: these include Measles, Measles-Mumps-Rubella, Measles-Mumps-Rubella Vaccination, Mumps, Polio, Rubella, Tetanus-Diphtheria-Pertussis, and Varicella.
- Influenza occurs in the northern and southern hemisphere winters and year-round in the tropics. Consider an annual vaccination.

Malaria

There is no malaria in Japan.

Food and Water Precautions

Travellers have a small risk of developing diarrhea in any country. It may be advisable to drink bottled water only, especially on short trips. Always wash your hands with soap before eating, or use an alcohol-based hand sanitizer. See the following country-specific recommendations:

Water and Beverages

Tap water is safe to drink.

Use caution in Okinawa during water shortages or typhoons. Use only bottled or boiled water during these times.

Food Risk

Japan is an extremely clean country, and the food is safe. The practice of eating sashimi (raw fish) or sushi is popular, and, in general, the quality of the fish is extremely good. However, it is recommended that tourists eat at popular and recommended places to avoid the small risk of food poisoning.

Nuclear Incident, Earthquake and Tsunami damage

On March 11, 2011, a magnitude 9.0 earthquake and subsequent tsunami struck the northeast coast of the main Japanese island of Honshu. The Fukushima Daichi Nuclear Power Plant was severely damaged and a state of nuclear emergency was declared. The government evacuated all residents within 20km of the Daichi plant ("restricted zone"), as well as several areas beyond 20km to more than 30km zone from the nuclear plant ("Deliberate Evacuation Area").

Authorities continue to monitor radiation levels in the environment, and food and drinking water. As of late September 2011, monitoring of drinking water showed no elevated levels of contaminants. All restrictions associated to drinking water have subsequently been lifted.

Authorities have also restricted the harvest, distribution and sale of any foods that may be contaminated at a level potentially harmful to health. Some seafood is contaminated at levels above the regulatory limits. Control measures are in place to prevent its distribution.

Standard of Health Care

In large cities, hospitals have excellent, modern, Western equipment and often have English-speaking physicians. Outside major cities, English-speaking physicians may be difficult to find. The medicine practiced in Japan is the same as that of Western countries in the large medical institutions. In general, the major hurdle is the language barrier between medical staff and patient. However, the majority of Japanese doctors write/comprehend English very well.

It is sometimes difficult to see an English-speaking doctor in an emergency department in Japan, even in Tokyo. Also, house calls and hotel calls are not common. When ambulances are called for, they will take the patient to the closest available hospital. However, the patient may not necessarily be admitted to this hospital if there are no available beds and may be transferred within 24 hours after being initially stabilized to a hospital organized by the attending doctor.

The necessity for politeness and deference to seniors often frustrates many westerners, who seek more medical information and rapid medical attention and action. Doctors are generally very knowledgeable. However, there is an emphasis on protocol, which sometimes causes physicians to fail in taking rapid action, even when it is medically warranted.

Doctors will always discuss and organize secondary referrals with the appropriate specialist if a patient may be more appropriately cared for elsewhere. In large teaching hospitals, you will often be cared for by a "team" of doctors. They will confer to discuss your care and treatment plan.

Please note that Japanese doctors will be happy to accommodate questions from the patient, immediate family or concerned company staff/medical liaison. However, this can only occur after the patient or relatives have directly approached the treating doctor concerned and requested the release of information.

Japan has a national health insurance system, which does not cover care for foreigners who are not insured in Japan to receive medical care. However, most hospitals take care of patients in an emergency regardless of insurance coverage if the situation is life-threatening.

Emergency Response

Always try to call International SOS whenever medical care or advice is required, especially in emergencies.

Japan's public emergency ambulance service is efficient and can be reached by phone or by going to the nearest police station at no charge. This ambulance service will deliver you to the nearest hospital, regardless of whether there are English-speaking staff there or not.

Private ambulances are very costly and are not normally used for emergencies. Large hospitals also have their own ambulances, but they are also not used for emergencies.

Japan has a national health insurance system, which does not cover care for foreigners who are not insured in Japan to receive medical care. However, most hospitals take care of patients in an emergency regardless of insurance coverage if the situation is life-threatening.

OutPatient Care

The university and private hospitals have outpatient departments. However, most do not accept appointments for a first consultation. Patients must register at the hospital outpatient unit between 0830 and 1130 and are expected to wait for his/her name to be called. These systems are improving. Most hospital outpatient units are closed on Saturdays, Sundays and public holidays.

If a consultation is required on Saturday, Sunday or a public holiday, patients are advised to go to the hospital emergency department. Although the emergency department is meant for serious medical emergencies, they usually do not refuse walk-in patients. However, they will not pre-schedule appointments.

There are several private clinics in Tokyo that are very accustomed to treating foreigners. These clinics have expatriate doctors, and a variety of medical specialists usually visit at specified times each week. These clinics are generally open during office hours Monday through Friday and on Saturday mornings.

Paying for Health Care

Doctors, clinics and hospitals will expect immediate cash payment for health services and may require proof of ability to pay prior to treatment. Credit card payment is rarely acceptable, even in large hospitals.

Supplemental medical insurance with specific overseas repatriation coverage is strongly recommended.

Do not defer medical treatment because of financial concerns. Contact International SOS, and if our terms allow, we will make financial arrangements on your behalf.

Dental Care

The standard of dental care is high, and there are many dental clinics in Japan's large cities. Some dentists speak English, but most clinic staff members do not.
Most clinics accept appointments for first consultations and are usually open during office hours (Monday through Friday, 900 through 1700) and on Saturday mornings. Some dental clinics in large cities stay open until 9 PM.

Medication Availability
In Japan, a doctor's prescription is required for medication, including antibiotics. Most hospitals and clinics have an appointed pharmacy near or on their premises to dispense medications.

Since brand names vary, know the generic (chemical) names of your medications. It is always advisable to bring an adequate supply of prescription and other medications from your home country. Check the expiration date on all medications.

Blood Supplies
Blood is considered safe and is screened according to international standards. As in other Asian cities, there is often a shortage of Rh negative blood supplies.

Even in areas where the blood supply is considered safe, it's best to avoid blood transfusions if possible. Screening cannot detect every blood-borne disease, and immune reactions can vary from minor to life-threatening. If a blood transfusion is recommended and circumstances permit, seek a second opinion from International SOS or your health advisor.

Rabies
Spread By: Animals

Rabies is a viral disease contracted when bitten or scratched by an infected (rabid) animal, often a dog. Once it enters the body, the virus travels along nerves and causes paralysis. As it reaches important organs like the spinal cord and the brain, it causes coma and death.

In countries with rabies, ALL animal bites, scratches and licks to broken skin must be treated seriously. Rabies vaccination is very effective in preventing rabies, even after a bite/scratch by a rabid animal.

Rabies vaccination
Pre-exposure vaccination is often recommended for expatriates and long-term visitors to destinations where rabies is present. It's especially recommended if quality medical care may not be available after being bitten or scratched by an animal. Pre-exposure treatment can be especially useful for children, since they may not tell their parents that they have been bitten/scratched.

Pre-exposure vaccination makes it easier to treat a bite or scratch. That's important because some types of rabies treatment can be in short supply in many countries, even in cities.

If bitten, scratched or licked (on broken skin) by an animal:
- Immediately cleanse the wound with soap and water and a povidone-iodine solution if available.
- Seek medical advice from a qualified source or your assistance company.
- Notify local health authorities immediately. You may need post-exposure vaccination, even if you have had pre-exposure vaccination. (THIS CAN BE LIFE SAVING.)

Japan
Rabies-like virus may be present in bats. Cases of animal and human rabies have not been notified since 1957. Risk of exposure for average travellers is low.

Hepatitis A
Spread By: Food and/or water

Hepatitis A is a viral disease that affects the liver. It is transmitted person-to-person and by contaminated food and water, especially in areas with poor sanitation and overcrowding.

Symptoms begin two to seven weeks after infection and can include fever, chills, weakness, loss of appetite, nausea and/or abdominal discomfort followed by jaundice (yellowing of the skin and eyes). Urine may become dark.

Many people, especially children, suffer only a mild flu-like illness with no specific symptoms. In other cases, the Jaundice is severe. Occasionally, hepatitis A causes life-threatening liver failure. This is more common in the very young, those with underlying health problems and those over 50 years old.

Vaccination

Hepatitis A vaccination should be considered for all non-immune travelers.

As hepatitis A is more severe in persons suffering chronic hepatitis, both hepatitis A and B vaccination is advised for all infected with hepatitis C. Hepatitis A vaccination is also recommended for all infected with hepatitis B.

- Individual hepatitis A vaccination consists of a series of two injections given on days 0 and after six months. Adequate immunity to hepatitis A develops soon after the first dose. The second dose is necessary to ensure sustained immunity.
- Combined hepatitis A and B vaccine is available in many countries. It requires a series of three injections given on days 0, 30 and after six months. The first two doses are required before immunity to hepatitis A or B can be assumed. The third dose is necessary to ensure sustained immunity to both diseases.

Japanese encephalitis

Spread By: Insect Bites

Japanese encephalitis occurs in rural agricultural areas throughout Asia and is transmitted by the Culex mosquito. These mosquitoes breed where there is abundant water, such as in rice paddies, and feed primarily on birds and local domestic animals, usually pigs. The mosquitoes are night feeders, so there is less chance of Japanese encephalitis transmission during the day.

Although encephalitis means inflammation of the brain, most Japanese encephalitis infections cause no symptoms. If symptoms do develop, they include nausea, vomiting, headache and fever. A severe attack may cause coma and has a mortality of up to 25 percent. Of those who survive severe infections, about 30 percent have permanent brain damage.

To prevent Japanese encephalitis, sleep in well-screened accommodation and avoid sleeping outdoors near large concentrations of animals. Prevent mosquito bites and consider vaccination when risk is significant.

Japan

Cases occur rarely, however there is a local vaccination programme in place, with a high uptake rate. People who live and work in rural areas, such as rice fields, are at higher risk. Peak transmission season runs from May to October on most islands. On Ryuku Islands (Okinawa) transmission occurs from April through December.

Vaccination is generally not recommended for travel confined to Tokyo and other major cities.

HIV, Hepatitis B and C, & STIs

Spread By: Sex/blood/needles

HIV/AIDS, hepatitis B, and hepatitis C are spread by contact with bodily fluids (especially blood and semen). Transmission most commonly occurs through:

- unprotected sex,
- needle sharing during IV drug use, or
- unsafe blood or medical/dental instruments.

Genital herpes (HSV), genital warts (HPV), gonorrhoea, chlamydia, syphilis and most other sexually transmitted diseases are spread by genital contact.

Prevention:

- In many countries, hepatitis B is now a routine childhood immunisation and need not be repeated. All non-immune travellers should consider vaccination.
- Always use new condoms (preferably brought from your home country, if travelling to a less-developed nation).
- IV drug users should not share needles.
- Avoid having tattoos or piercings done.
- In healthcare settings, make sure that needles and syringes are new.
- Call International SOS or your corporate medical department if you are hospitalised.
- Be aware of your risk when assisting anyone with an injury. Protect your skin from contact with bodily fluids.
- Seek medical attention within 24 hours if you accidentally come into contact with someone else's bodily fluids.

Cutaneous Larva Migrans

Spread By: Soil

Cutaneous Larva Migrans (CLM) is a skin infection caused most commonly from hookworms. Animals such as dogs and cats host these parasites and shed the parasite eggs in their faeces. The eggs then hatch into larvae. Transmission... occurs through direct skin contact with contaminated sand or soil. The larva penetrates the outermost layers of the skin. A pricking or itching sensation may be experienced when the larva penetrates the skin. Within a few hours a rash can develop at the entry point. As the larva moves, creeping tracks or snake-like reddish tracks will develop. Severe itching and mild swelling may also occur. CLM usually resolves itself without any treatment. Some anti-parasitic medications may be used to shorten the duration of infection.

There is no medication or cure to prevent the infection. Avoid walking barefoot at the beach and avoid direct skin contact with infected sand or soil. Use a clean towel or mat to sit or lie on the sand.

Japan: Business Traveler Summary

Japan is one of the world's safest destinations for foreign travellers. Petty crime is the main risk to visitors, especially in major cities, but levels remain low. Japan supported the US-led interventions in Iraq and Afghanistan. While a terrorist attack in Japan remains feasible, it is not a target for Islamist extremists, not least because of the operational difficulties such groups would face in such a homogeneous society.

Japan experiences frequent tremors and occasional more severe earthquakes; thousands of people were killed in March 2011 due to a 9.0-magnitude earthquake off Miyagi prefecture on the country's north-eastern coast. However, as a result of long experience dealing with such risks, the national infrastructure is highly resilient and Japanese civil authorities have a very high level of capability.

This information is intended as a summary of the travel security environment; however, the risks can change at short notice during a crisis or evolving situation. Please check our travel security alerts to ensure you are informed of the most recent developments.

Japan: Driving Safety

Traffic drives on the left. Unfamiliarity with local traffic customs can make driving awkward and even dangerous for foreigners. Roads are narrow and traffic is often severely congested. Turning on red lights without authorisation is prohibited. Strict penalties, including prison sentences, are imposed for drunk driving; the national blood-alcohol limit is zero percent. In urban areas, road signs are posted in English and Japanese, while in remote areas signage is mostly in Japanese.

All major car-rental companies such as Avis, Hertz and Budget have offices at airports and in city centres. Foreign visitors require an international driving licence, plus their national driver's licence, for visits of up to a year; after a year, foreigners require a Japanese driving licence. Drivers are obliged to pay tolls on many highways.

Luxury cars are a favoured target for criminals and should be parked in secure locations and kept locked at all times when unoccupied. Snowfall is common in the northern, central and western regions during the winter (December-February) often causing road closures. Road travel in coastal areas may periodically be affected by heavy rainfall between May and October, as flash floods and landslides can block roads, resulting in delays and lengthy diversions. The Japan Automobile Federation offers roadside assistance.

Telephone Information

The telecommunications system is excellent and mobile network coverage is extensive. However, the country does not have a GSM network; most networks are 3G or 4G based. Major network providers include KDDI Corporation, Docomo, SoftBank and eAccess. SIM cards may be purchased online or from stores. It is often better to fax, which is considered sympathetic towards business partners who may have difficulty with spoken English. Public telephones are plentiful, though international calls can only be made from green public telephones with gold-coloured face plates. These public phones accept both coins and cards. Internet and email connections are reliable and major hotels can provide these. The postal service is also quick and reliable.

Japan Financial Information

The currency is the yen (¥). Japan is a cash-based country, though international credit cards such as American Express, Visa, Diners Club and MasterCard are widely accepted at most hotels, shops and restaurants in major cities. ATMs at airports, foreign bank branches, some convenience stores and post offices generally accept international cards. Outside major cities, cash transactions are generally the norm. Not all ATMs accept cards issued outside Japan and many do not operate 24 hours a day. Traveller’s cheques can be exchanged at major banks and larger hotels. It is often better to use hotel facilities rather than banks to exchange money; banking processes and linguistic difficulties can present problems and queues for services can be very long.

Tipping is not customary. It is not expected in any situation and attempting to tip may cause embarrassment or be considered insulting. A service charge of 10-15% may be added to the bill at hotels and restaurants.

Japan Cultural Tips

General Tips

- Japanese life is governed by a strict code of manners. The Japanese do not expect visitors to be familiar with their customs, but it is essential to try to adapt to this code of behaviour.
- Only ask people about their spouse or children if you are sure your conversational partner is married/has children. Asking an unmarried person about a spouse, or a childless person about children, may cause embarrassment.
- If using chopsticks, avoid using them to point at someone and do not leave them sticking up in a bowl of rice.
- When entering a Japanese home, it is customary to remove shoes and position them facing the door. Follow your host’s example. Shoes may also be removed at traditional restaurants.
- It is customary to bring chocolate, cookies or cakes when invited to a Japanese home. Purchasing them in a
The department store where they will be wrapped is recommended.

- The Japanese do not usually open gifts when they are presented.

Business Tips

- Bowing is normally preferred to hand-shaking, but most Japanese adapt to Western practice by shaking hands with foreign guests. If your are bowed to, return the gesture by bowing either to the same depth or lower – the depth of your bow is indicative of the status relationship between you and your counterpart.
- In business meetings, the most junior member of staff should be positioned closest to the door.
- Japanese business associates should be referred to by their surname with the honorific suffix 'san' added, hence Junichi Yamazaki should be addressed as Yamazaki-san.
- Japanese businesspeople prepare extensively for their own overseas business trips and would like (but do not necessarily expect) visitors to do the same.
- Business cards are usually exchanged upon introductions. It is advisable to have yours printed in both English and Japanese. Both hands should be used for giving and receiving cards, which should be studied closely, placed in front of you and collected at the end. Do not put away during the meeting.
- Make business appointments in advance and be punctual.
- Entertainment is an important part of business arrangements and usually takes place after business hours at a bar or restaurant. Although business may be discussed, these outings are primarily occasions for building friendships.
- Business dress is formal and conservative. Men should wear a suit and women should wear either a dress or a suit.
- It is traditional to give gifts to business associates. They should be given at the start of a meeting and not opened in front of the giver. Visitors should not give four of anything: the number four signifies death.
- Be aware that the Japanese try not to disagree openly. They may avoid saying 'no' by giving an unenthusiastic 'yes'.

Businesswomen

There are no specific risks for female travellers or businesswomen. However, all women are advised to follow commonsense security precautions such as:

- Dress modestly to avoid drawing unwanted attention.
- Say no politely to invitations that would take you beyond your personal comfort levels, even if faced by amicable pressure to behave otherwise.

Business Hours

- Working week: Monday to Friday.
- Banking hours: 09.00-15.00.
- Office hours: 09.00-17.00.
- The formal lunch hour is 12.00-13.00; many offices do not take calls during this period.

Additional Immigration Information
Visas

Not required by all nationals referred to in the chart above for the following durations:

1. Nationals of Austria, Germany, Ireland and the UK who, though initially granted a 90-day stay, may apply while in Japan to the local immigration department for an extension of up to a further 90 days, making the visa-free stay up to six months.
2. Nationals of Australia, Belgium, Bulgaria, Canada, Cyprus, Czech Republic, Denmark, Estonia, Finland, France, Greece, Hungary, Italy, Luxembourg, Latvia, Lithuania, Malta, Netherlands, Portugal, Poland, Romania, Slovenia, Slovakia, Spain, Sweden and the US for stays of up to 90 days.

Visitors from Andorra, Argentina, Bahamas, Chile, Costa Rica, Croatia, Dominican Republic, El Salvador, Guatemala, Honduras, Hong Kong (China), Iceland, Israel, Macao (China), Macedonia, Mauritius, New Zealand, Norway, San Marino, Singapore, Suriname, Tunisia, Turkey (biometric passport holders only) and Uruguay can travel and stay in Japan without a visa for up to three months. Nationals of Liechtenstein, Mexico and Switzerland can stay for up to six months without a visa.

Nationals of Thailand, Philippines, Vietnam, Malaysia and Indonesia can travel and stay without a visa in Japan for tourism purposes for up to 15 days (30 days for citizens of Indonesia); for stays exceeding this period, a visa is required. Multiple-entry visas are issued to nationals of Myanmar which allows them to stay in Japan for 15 days in a single visit. All these nationals may additionally be required to present an itinerary of their visit, proof of funds to sustain their stay and an onward/return ticket at the port of entry.

Nationals of other countries require a temporary visitor’s visa to enter Japan, which is normally valid for stays of up to 90 days. Visitors can refer to the foreign affairs website for the latest visa information. Documents stating the purpose of visit are required to be submitted at the time of visa application for both tourism and business purposes. However, a business visa is required for executives intending to work or engage in fee-based activities. The processing of visas usually takes five days.

Entry/Exit requirements

Visitors who do not possess a visible means of support for their stay, onward or return tickets, or other documents for their next destination, may be refused entry. The visitor’s passport should be valid for the intended duration of the stay. There is no restriction on the import and export of any currency; however, travellers carrying more than 1,000,000 yen are required to fill out a customs declaration. Passengers must also complete a customs declaration form upon arrival.

Foreign visitors should carry their passports at all times. This is a legal requirement and, while spot-checks are infrequent, offenders are subject to lengthy bureaucracy. Visitors intending to stay for more than three months will be issued a resident card, instead of the alien registration certificate, up to a maximum of five years on arrival. This card will provide foreign nationals with the status of residency for long-term stays in the country. In addition, travellers who require to re-enter Japan within a year of their departure can do so on a special re-entry permit, provided they hold a valid resident card. Visitors overstaying their visa duration can be subjected to fines, imprisonment and even deportation.

Procedures

Narita airport (Tokyo) has only one runway and taxiing to and from the new terminal can take up to 30 minutes. Some airlines operating out of Narita have check-in desks at Tokyo City Air Terminal (T-CAT) in the city centre, but baggage should be checked in three to four hours before the flight’s scheduled departure. Immigration and customs formalities are usually hassle-free, though customs officers often question incoming foreign nationals regarding their purpose of stay. All travellers, including permanent residents, will have their fingerprints scanned and will also be photographed upon arrival; non-adherence to these procedures can result in denial of entry into the country. The usual green (nothing to declare) and red (goods to declare) channels are in operation. Immigration delays are most common at Narita. Visitors, who are issued a resident card on arrival, are required to register with the local municipal office and the Ministry of Justice within 14 days of arrival.

Departure Tax

- Included in the cost of the airline ticket.

Additional Customs Information

The following may be imported if accompanied by a health certificate: eggs, bones, horns and other parts of many animals, including artiodactyls (cows, goats, sheep, etc.), dogs, horses, chickens, ducks, geese, turkeys, rabbits, bees.

Passengers carrying unaccompanied baggage to arrive on a later flight must make a written declaration at the time and place of entry, as declaration after entry may not be accepted.

Because it is illegal to import of certain medications, all prescription medications should be left in their original labeled containers. You should also carry the doctor’s prescription with you, especially for habit-forming or narcotic drugs.

Articles purchased tax-free in Japan must be shown to customs at time of departure.
Climate

Japan has a temperate climate with four distinct seasons. Spring in March-May is warm with some rainfall. June to August are summer months with extreme humidity and temperatures as high as 40°C (104°F). The country receives heavy rainfall in June-July. Temperatures during autumn or fall in September to November are tolerable but winter months between December and February are very cold. The average minimum temperature is -1°C (30°F) and the average maximum temperature is 31°C (88°F). Travellers can check the latest weather updates on the meteorological agency's website.

Illness/Accident During Orientation

If you are experiencing a medical emergency, you should call 119, which is the emergency Ambulance/Fire number. You can request an English-speaking operator but it may be faster to find a Japanese person to assist you. You can also call the English-speaking Police Hotline at 03-3501-0110. These numbers should be programmed into your Japanese cell phone. There is an International SOS International Medical Clinic located near the Sanuki Club hotel that we will use in case a program participant needs medical care or attention. This phone number should be programmed into your Japanese cell phone.

If you should become ill during the orientation but it is not a medical emergency, you should contact Packard-sensei via her cell phone. She will make arrangements to take you to the International SOS clinic for medical treatment.

Illness/Accident During Research Internship

City by City Listings of Medical Resources in Japan: http://japan.usembassy.gov/e/acs/tacs-7119.html

During the first week you are at your research lab you MUST locate your nearest English-speaking medical clinic or doctor. Call the CISI phone number on the back of your insurance card or review the US Embassy in Japan’s Medical Resources website. You can also speak with your university’s International Student Office or Center to see what clinics they recommend to international students. Update the back of your Emergency Information Card with the applicable information for medical and emergency care at your research internship site and program the numbers into your cell phone.

If you become ill or require medical attention during the research internship period and it is not a medical emergency call the phone number on the back of your CISI insurance card first to see if they can make arrangements to pre-pay your medical expenses. Speak with your research advisor and mentor as well and ask if someone from your lab can help you schedule a medical appointment and/or come with you to the clinic.

If you are experiencing a medical emergency, you should call 119, which is the emergency Ambulance/Fire number. You can request an English-speaking operator but it may be faster to find a Japanese person to assist you. You can also call the English-speaking Police Hotline at 03-3501-0110. These numbers should be programmed into your Japanese cell phone.

If you have sought out medical treatment during the internship period call Packard-sensei via her Japanese cell phone and send an e-mail to nanojapan@rice.edu notifying us that you have been ill or had an accident that required medical attention. Provide as much detail as you are comfortable with as this will help us determine if you require additional assistance.
Medical Care in Japan

Japan Country Information Sheet: http://travel.state.gov/travel/cis_pa_tw/cis/cis_1148.html#medical While medical care in Japan is good, English-speaking physicians and medical facilities that cater to Americans’ expectations are expensive and not widespread. Medical caregivers in Japan require payment in full at the time of treatment or concrete proof of ability to pay before treating a foreigner who is not a member of the national health insurance plan. U.S.-style and standard psychiatric care can be difficult to locate in major urban centers in Japan, and generally is not available outside of Japan’s major cities. Extended psychiatric care for foreigners in Japan is difficult to obtain at any price; see http://japan.usembassy.gov/e/acs/tacs-psychadmissions.html for more information. U.S. prescriptions are not honored in Japan, so travelers with ongoing prescription medicine needs should arrive with a sufficient supply to see them through their stay in Japan, or enough until they are able to see a local care provider. Certain medications, including some commonly prescribed for depression and Attention Deficit Disorder (ADD), are not widely available. More information on importing medicines into Japan is also available at http://japan.usembassy.gov/e/acs/tacs-medimport.html. A list of medical facilities in Japan with English-speaking staff is available on our web site at http://tokyo.usembassy.gov/e/acs/tacs-7119.html. Information on vaccinations and other health precautions, such as safe food and water precautions and insect bite protection, may be obtained from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention’s hotline for international travelers at 1-877-FYI-TRIP (1-877-394-8747) or via the CDC’s web site at http://wwwnc.cdc.gov/travel/default.aspx. For information about outbreaks of infectious diseases abroad, consult the World Health Organization's (WHO) web site at http://www.who.int/en.

CISI International Insurance Policy

All NanoJapan students are provided with a CISI International Health Insurance policy through the University of Tulsa. This insurance provides you with the following coverage limits for the full duration of your time abroad. If you have an emergency or urgent medical need, proceed directly to your nearest English-speaking clinic or doctor. If you have time to schedule an appointment in advance, call the phone number on the back of your CISI card for clinic/doctor recommendations and to see if they can arrange to pre-pay your medical expenses. If this is not possible or if you are not able to contact CISI ahead of your visit, you will need to pay all costs up front and file a claim reimbursement form through CISI. Consult your CISI brochure for more information and your claim form.

BAIICO JACQUELINE

26-Apr-2015

Dear BAIICO:

Your request for insurance coverage has been processed. Below you will find your identification card which reflects your dates of coverage: 14-May-2015 through 04-Aug-2015, and your Participant ID: 12345678910 under the protection plan policy number: 14 GLM MD05534AA.

Should you require medical attention please be sure to present your identification card to the medical provider. This will ensure that the claim will be sent to us and will enable us to properly identify you as a covered participant under this insurance.

If you should have any questions, at any time, regarding your insurance please contact us at 800-303-1230. We look forward to providing the best coverage and service to you and we hope that your stay abroad experience will be both memorable and rewarding.

Sincerely,

Cultural Insurance Services International

The Consul General of Japan

April 20, 2018

Dear Sir/Madam:

Please accept this letter as confirmation that AMANDA JACQUELINE has worldwide insurance coverage for a study abroad program sponsored by UNIVERSITY OF TULSA. The dates of coverage extend from 14-May-2018 through 04-Aug-2018 under policy number 14 C1M 2VMO0984A. This plan is offered by Cultural Insurance Services International and underwritten by ACE AMERICAN INSURANCE CO.

The benefits under this plan provide 100.00% payment of covered medical expenses up to $100,000.00 per injury or illness. Each participant is covered if, as the result of a covered accident: 1 covered sickness, he/she incurs expenses for the services of a physician, hospital, emergency room, ambulatory medical center, laboratory tests, local ambulance service, prescription medicines, therapeutics, anesthesias (including administration thereof), X-ray or prosthetic appliances. Hospital room and board is covered at the normal semiprivate room rate.

An Accidental Death & Dismemberment benefit of up to $50,000.00, and a $100,000.00 maximum Med Evacuation benefit and a $100,000.00 maximum Repatriation benefit are also included in this plan.

Payments will be made directly to foreign providers and can be made in foreign currency by Cultural Insurance Services International. To arrange payments, please contact Cultural Insurance Services International toll-free within the U.S. at (800) 308-5120 or contact AXA ASSISTANCE 24 hours a day, 7 days a week at (888) 827-1411 or call collect from outside of the U.S. to (312) 935-1703.

For more information about the benefits of this policy, please contact Cultural Insurance Services International directly.

Sincerely,

Linda Langin - Sr. Vice President

Rice University International SOS Policy - REQUIRED
Register at: http://riskmanagement.rice.edu/Default.aspx?id=38

Rice’s Global Assistance Program is managed by International SOS. Operating in over 70 countries, International SOS is the world’s leading international healthcare, medical assistance and security services company organization with international operations. A global team of 6,000 employees led by 900 full-time physicians and 200 security specialists provides health and security support to enable its members to operate wherever they work or travel. Anyone traveling on University business or for a University related activity is eligible. University business and University related activities/programs are broadly defined as part of professional or academic work including research, attendance or speaking at a conference, study abroad, summer jobs or internships.

Once all NanoJapan students have been issued their Rice Student ID numbers the NanoJapan Program will forward your information to the Risk Management office and they will enroll you in the International SOS policy. You will be given an International SOS card during the Pre-Departure Orientation that you should carry with you abroad. This is NOT international health insurance but provides the following:

- Helping you prepare before you travel with medical and security advisories
- Assisting on your trip with problems such as lost passports, medical emergencies, and theft
- Storing critical emergency information where International SOS can access information during a crisis including: health information (such as allergies, current prescriptions and past medical history), your emergency contact information, and copies of your passport and visas
- Offering a personal travel locator service, which allows you to enter your travel itinerary via a protected Website so International SOS or Rice’s administrator can contact you in case of an urgent need
- Providing emergency translation and interpreter services
- Referring you to medical, dental or legal professionals in the country you are traveling
- Arranging for your evacuation due to security problems

U.S. Department of State Smart Traveler Enrollment Program (STEP) - REQUIRED
Register at https://step.state.gov/step/

The Smart Traveler Enrollment Program (STEP) is a free service provided by the U.S. Government to U.S. citizens who are traveling to, or living in, a foreign country. STEP allows you to enter information about your upcoming trip abroad so that the Department of State can better assist you in an emergency. STEP also allows Americans residing abroad to get routine information from the nearest U.S. embassy or consulate.

All NanoJapan students must register with STEP prior to departure for Japan and should be sure to remember or write down their password. When they get to their research host labs they will need to update their STEP enrollment (and International SOS enrollment) with the address of their research internship housing.

Emergency Preparedness for Americans in Japan

This information is provided to help prepare U.S. citizens and their families in the unlikely event of natural disasters, civil emergencies, and other situations that might necessitate an evacuation.

In the event of an actual emergency, the Embassy will place up to date instructions specific to the circumstances of the event.

Emergency Messages for U.S. Citizens | Earthquake | Typhoon Tips | Tsunami Tips

Before an emergency occurs there are a number of things that you can do to prepare:

- Read "Emergencies and Crisis - What the Department of State can and can't do in a crisis"
- Sign up for the free Smart Traveler Enrollment Program (STEP) - U.S. citizens living or traveling in Japan are encouraged to register with the Embassy or the Consulates through the State Department's travel enrollment website. In the event of an emergency, we use the enrollment information to communicate with you. By signing up for the STEP, you can also automatically receive our most up-to-date travel and security information as well as our monthly newsletters.
- Read "Be Prepared for Emergencies" (PDF 166KB) - Whether or not you have to consider the prospect of an evacuation or natural disaster, it is sound advice to follow the information in this document.

Staying informed during an emergency situation:

- Monitor our website - we will issue updated messages for U.S. citizens and post appropriate information specific to the circumstances on our website.
- Monitor local radio stations such as AFN (American Forces Network) or InterFM (English language news alerts) and follow the international and local news outlets for additional information. AFN Tokyo-AM 810kHz, AFN Iwakuni-AM 1575kHz, AFN Sasebo-AM 1575kHz, AFN Okinawa-FM 89.1MHz, InterFM Tokyo-FM 76.1Mhz, InterFM Nagoya-FM 79.5Mhz.

- During natural disasters such as typhoons or tropical storms, monitor the Japan Meteorological Agency website for current weather and environmental conditions.

- Read the latest security information worldwide. U.S. citizens should regularly monitor the State Department’s website where the current Worldwide Caution, Travel Warnings and Travel Alerts can be found. Up-to-date information on security can also be obtained by calling 1-888-407-4747 toll free in the United States, or, for callers from outside the United States and Canada, a regular toll line at 1-202-501-4444. These numbers are available from 8:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m. Eastern Time, Monday through Friday (except U.S. federal holidays).

EARTHQUAKE (also read about Tsunami Tips)

Japan is the most seismically active piece of real estate in the world. The Tokyo metropolitan area experiences regular tremors of varying intensities and the probability that a severe and damaging earthquake will occur is high. The consequences of such a quake will vary greatly depending upon the time of day and year that the quake occurs, and no one can predict with any certainty what conditions will be like immediately following an intensive shock.

It is prudent that everyone be prepared to fend for themselves in the immediate aftermath of a big earthquake. Every family and company should develop its own emergency plan and make sure its personnel and their family members are familiar with earthquake emergency procedures and precautions for their safety. Companies and organizations should coordinate carefully with their ward or city office to ensure that they are familiar with Japanese government plans for their area.

Please read on for information on how to best prepare.

The Role of the Embassy

The Japanese Government will be responsible for assisting foreigners immediately after a major earthquake. Telephone services will be severely overloaded and the Japanese Government will restrict phone use to priority users. Nonetheless, the Embassy will quickly want to ascertain the welfare and whereabouts of American Citizens.

To aid in this process, American citizens should cooperate with Japanese authorities at evacuation sites and clearly identify themselves as Americans. Those connected with larger organizations such as companies, schools or church groups should try to let these organizations know of their welfare and whereabouts if this is practical.
The Embassy will be in touch with the Japanese Government and with larger umbrella organizations to attempt to identify as many American citizens as possible and determine their welfare. In the likely event that it is impossible to communicate by telephone or use motor vehicles, Embassy consular assistance teams are prepared to walk to major evacuation sites, international schools, hotels and so on and collect information about American citizens. The Embassy will help you get information about the situation and communicate with Japanese government officials if necessary in order to obtain proper food, shelter and medical attention.

We will pass as much information as possible about the welfare of individual U.S. citizens back to the Department of State in Washington, D.C. so that this information may be shared with your families, friends and employers.

Earthquake Survival Manual

Though a bit distracting in parts ("Avoid being caught up in such a panic and try to keep your head," "Day Three: Residents, companies and the government will work together to rebuild the community," "Pack cloth tape... for the arrangement of the baggage"), most of the Tokyo Metropolitan Government's bilingual Early Warning System

The Japan Meteorological Agency (JMA) provides residents in Japan with earthquake early warnings. These are new rapid earthquake alerts to be issued immediately after the occurrence of early tremors, in order to secure time to protect yourself before strong tremors arrive. Please note that these warnings, when accurate, may just give you a couple of seconds advance notice. Preparation is of the utmost importance. The JMA started providing earthquake early warnings through several means such as TV and radio on 1 October 2007. For more details please go to:

Earthquake Simulators

If you’ve been in Japan more than a few weeks, you have likely felt at least a light tremor. What does a real earthquake feel like? The Tokyo Northern Disaster Research Center has an earthquake simulator that you can experience free of charge. They’ll simulate a series of small quakes, ranging from 2 to 8 on the Japanese scale.

The simulator can also let you experience the exact magnitude and duration of the 1923 Kanto Earthquake and the 1995 Kobe Earthquake. The Center also has a simulator showing how to escape from a smoke-clogged hotel fire and offers demonstrations on the proper use of fire extinguishers. While all the demonstrations are in Japanese only, even kids can follow along without much trouble.

Take the Namboku Subway line to Nishigahara Station, about 30 minutes from central Tokyo. The Center is about a five minute walk from the subway station, just past the gigantic Tokyo Hospital and the local fire station.

For more information call 03-3940-1811 (Japanese only).

Essential Supplies (Store enough for three to five days)

- Water (four liters/one gallon per person per day. Change water every three to five months)
- Food (canned or pre-cooked, requiring no heat or water. Consider special dietary needs, infants, the elderly, pets)
- Flashlight with spare batteries and bulbs
- Radio (battery operated with spare batteries)
- Large plastic trash bags (for trash, waste, water protection, ground cloth, temporary blanket)
- Hand soap and/or disinfecting hand cleaner gel that does not require water
- Feminine hygiene supplies, infant supplies, toilet paper
- Essential medications as required; glasses if you normally wear contacts
- Paper plates, cups, plastic utensils, cooking foil and plastic wrap (wrapped around plates so that they were re-usable) and paper towels
- First Aid kit with instructions
- Yen in small bills (ATMs may not work after a disaster), with coins and phone cards for public phones.

- Place emergency supplies and your telephone in places where they are less likely to be knocked over or buried by falling objects (on the floor under a strong table is a good choice).

Essential Home Preparations Before a Disaster

- Secure water heaters, refrigerators and tall and heavy furniture to the walls to prevent falling.
- Move heavy items to lower shelves, and install latches or other locking devices on cabinets.
- Install flexible connections on gas appliances.
- Remove or isolate flammable materials.
- Move beds and children's play areas away from heavy objects which may fall in an earthquake.
- Register at Embassy or Consulate serving your area; contact information is Essential Planning Before a Disaster

- Draw a floor plan of your home showing the location of exit windows and doors, utility cut off points, emergency supplies, food, tools, etc. Share it with baby-sitters and guests.

- Establish family meeting points with alternate sites inside and outside of your home for all members to gather in the event of an evacuation.

- Establish reunion sites with alternate sites for when the family is not at home, e.g., local shelter, neighbor's house, park, school.

- Designate a person outside of your immediate area for separated family members to call to report their location and condition if separated.

- Learn or establish disaster policy/planning at your children's school.

- Know your neighbors and make them aware of the number of people living in your home.

- Learn where the nearest designated shelter for your neighborhood is.

- Photocopy passports and other important documents. Store copies away from home (for example, at work).

- Learn how to contact the police, fire and rescue services in Japanese. Be able to provide your address in Japanese.

Essential Steps Immediately After a Disaster

- Check your immediate surroundings for fire, gas leaks, broken glass and other hazards.

- Open doors and/or windows to avoid being locked in if there are after-shocks.

- Contact one friend or relative in the U.S., and ask them to inform other parties of your situation.

- Monitor local TV and radio for evacuation information (If available in your area, for English info, listen to American Forces Network: AFN Tokyo-AM 810kHz, AFN Iwakuni-AM 1575kHz, AFN Sasebo-AM 1575kHz, AFN Okinawa-FM 89.1MHz).

Keeping in Touch: NTT’s 171 Disaster Line

The 171 Emergency Line is a voice message board service provided by NTT that is available when a disaster such as an earthquake or volcanic eruption occurs. If regular phone service is interrupted in the disaster-stricken area, this service can help keep in touch with family members and friends.

To utilize the service, U.S. citizens can simply dial 171 and then follow the instructions to record or listen to messages. To record a voice message, users dial 171, then 1 followed by their phone number. Concerned family and friends in Japan can hear the message by dialing 171, followed by 2 and the phone number. For detailed information on using the voice system, please see this link. Unfortunately, while detailed instructions in English exist on the website, the actual voice prompts are in Japanese only. Please note that the site lists days during which the public can practice using the service.

The voice-based messaging service is currently limited to domestic contacts. However, U.S. citizens can leave messages for family members overseas using NTT’s Web 171 service. To post an Internet message, users need to go to the Web 171 site and enter their message and phone number. Messages can be viewed by typing in the phone number on the site. The site is currently closed, but will be opened in the event of an emergency. Web 171 also is in Japanese only. NTT has stated that it has no plans to offer this service in English. U.S. citizens interested in using either service, particularly those individuals with a limited knowledge of Japanese language, are thus strongly encouraged to familiarize themselves with the detailed English instructions on NTT’s website. Printing these and keeping them close to the family’s emergency kit may also be a good idea.

Evacuations

Evacuations will likely occur after an earthquake when fires are spreading or buildings are in danger of being destroyed by landslides, etc. City police and fire authorities will issue evacuation advice. Americans, as well as others affected by the disaster, will need to seek assistance from the Japanese authorities.

To prepare, take a walking pre-survey of the designated place of evacuation nearest your home and office. Also be familiar with the location of the ward office and the telephone number of the Disaster Relief Headquarters for your ward. The Tokyo Metropolitan Government has maps of evacuation points. You should phone your ward office and ask which evacuation points are nearest your home and office. Try to get detailed maps (with landmarks/street names in kanji as well) of those locations.

Even if your building is standing after the quake and you are not asked to evacuate, the evacuation points will have fresh water, food and medical supplies.

Earthquake Survival Manual (PDF 3,299 kb) is very useful.

Of particular value are bilingual sections on calling for help, communicating with emergency medical staff and phrases useful for locating food, water and shelter. In the aftermath of the 1995 Hanshin earthquake many Americans who could not speak Japanese had a difficult time seeking assistance. Sustainment assistance, such a water and shelter, will come from the Government of Japan for all residents in a disaster area equally - there will be no special accommodations for foreigners and the Embassy will not be able to provide special facilities or general evacuation for Americans.

Typhoon season in Japan usually runs from June to December, but most typhoon activity occurs between the months of July and September. Southern parts of Japan, such as Okinawa or Kagoshima are particularly affected by these storms, but residents of any part of the archipelago are likely to experience one or more during their time here. A typhoon is the same as a hurricane or a tropical cyclone. All three are regionally specific names for a storm that falls in the highest classification of storm based on wind speed. Lower levels of storms include tropical depressions and tropical storms, among others. The preparation and safety tips remain the same for these lower level storms.

A typhoon is characterized by:

- High winds powerful enough to damage or destroy buildings, trees, power and telephone lines, and hurl debris at dangerous speeds.
- Storm surges, or temporary rises in sea levels, which can flood coastal areas and damage buildings near the shore.
- Very heavy rainfall that can cause flooding and mudslides.

What to do if a typhoon is approaching

Typhoons are notoriously difficult to accurately predict where, when and at what strength they will strike land. They will often veer off-course, change their speed or intensify quite suddenly. Many times storms that are predicted to hit miss completely, or vice versa—suddenly bearing down on a city it was expected to miss.

Watch NHK Television

- NHK, the national TV station, while not always in English, will post important notices in languages other than Japanese.

Listen to US Armed Forces Network (AFN) radio

AFN Radio provides regular weather bulletins in English. You can listen to AFN on:

- 89.1 FM in Okinawa
- 1575 AM in Nagasaki and Hiroshima regions
- 810 AM in the Kanto region

Prepare an emergency kit
STAYING SAFE DURING TYPHOON SEASON

• See this guide to creating a 3 Day emergency / disaster kit (http://japaninfoswap.com/build-a-3-day-emergency-kit/)

What to do if a typhoon strikes Keep safe from heavy rainfall

• If possible, stay at home and keep advised of the situation by watching NHK.
• Be prepared to evacuate by knowing where to go and having a disaster kit prepared and on hand.
• Stay clear of rivers, streams and large drains. There is potential for any of them to overflow without warning.
• Avoid using a vehicle, especially in the dark, as it's difficult to see flooded areas and it's often too late once you enter them. Kindly note that your insurance is, for the most part, unlikely to cover the loss of your vehicle due to flooding.
• If your parking spot is in a low lying area, move your car to a local supermarket or other such car parks that are on higher land. This would be advisable especially if there is already 5-10 centimeters of water that you need to wade through around your vehicle.

Keep safe from high winds

• Stay inside and keep advised of the situation by watching NHK.
• Secure or move inside your outdoor items such as toys, grills, bicycles, furniture, plants and anything movable on the balcony. Move potted plants and other heavy objects away from windows inside, as well.
• If you have shutters on your windows and doors, pull them shut. Shutters can prevent your windows from being broken by flying items.
• Set your freezer to the coldest temperature setting to minimize spoilage if the power is cut off.
• Watch for leaks around windows and doors. If the wind is strong enough, water may be blown into your home even if the windows are closed. Have towels handy as well as rags and mops.
• If the storm becomes severe, move into a hallway or area where there is the least exposure to external glass windows.
• Draw curtains across the windows to prevent against flying glass should windows crack.
• A window on the side of the house away from the approaching storm should be opened a few inches. This will compensate for the differences of indoor and outdoor air pressure.
• Remember that typhoons have “eyes,” areas in their center where the weather appears calm. If the eye passes over your area, it may appear that the storm has finished, with winds then picking up again as the remainder of the storm arrives.
• After the typhoon is gone, check for broken glass, fallen trees and downed power lines which may present safety hazards near children’s school bus stops, outdoor trash areas and around your car.

Keep safe from storm surges

• Keep advised of the situation by watching NHK (Channels 1 and 3).
• Be prepared to evacuate by knowing where to go, and having a disaster kit prepared and on hand.

Register Your Trip
Extra paperwork can be a hassle, but we promise our free travel registration service is quick, easy, and can be done online. Travel registration makes it possible to contact you quickly if there is a crisis or emergency, and your family and friends know your whereabouts. It’s especially useful if you’re planning to travel outside the United States, because it will help us find you if you get lost or need assistance. You can sign up at www.studentsabroad.state.gov.

Don’t Forget the Details
Make sure you sign your passport and fill in the emergency information page. Check with your airline to see if they require you to do this. You will need to provide copies of your itinerary, passport data page, and visas with family or friends, so you can be contacted in case of an emergency. Also make sure you have valid visas for the countries you plan to visit and that you have enough money to buy plane tickets and have a minimum of $500 in your passport if you need to buy a plane ticket. Check with your airline to see if they will replace it if you lose it.

Contact Home Periodically
It’s better to be safe than sorry. It can also be reassuring to know that your family and friends know your whereabouts. You can also check in with your professor and your study abroad program to let them know you’re safe. If you have a study abroad program, you can contact them to let them know you’re safe. If you don’t have a study abroad program, you can contact your university’s International Student Services office to let them know you’re safe.

Check Your Overseas Medical Insurance Coverage
If you’re traveling outside the United States, make sure your medical insurance is valid. If it’s not, consider purchasing supplemental coverage, and if it covers emergency expenses such as medical evacuation, ask your insurance company if your policy is valid. If you have international medical insurance, you may be covered in case of a crisis or emergency, so check with your insurance company to see if they cover you.

Research, Research, and More Research
(Not Just for Your Term Papers)
Thoroughly investigate the country you’re traveling to. Review Country Background Notes, Country Specific Information, Travel Alerts, and any Travel Warnings available at www.travel.state.gov. Familiarize yourself with local conditions, laws, and the culture. You wouldn’t want to cause an international incident, so make sure you’re prepared. You can also check with your university’s International Student Services office to see if they offer any resources for studying abroad.

Safety Tips Abroad
With preparation, your trip abroad can also be fun, eye-opening, and safe. It can be easy to get caught up in the excitement of travel, but it’s important to be prepared. Make sure you have a plan in case of an emergency, and have a contact person in case of a crisis. You can also contact your university’s International Student Services office to see if they offer any resources for studying abroad.

Go from here.
Let’s be serious about this. When traveling overseas, it’s important to obey the laws and regulations of the country you’re visiting, especially those pertaining to drug and alcohol use. Every year, many American students are arrested abroad on drug charges or because of their behavior under the influence. Ignorance of the law is no excuse, so be informed.

Avoid Underage and Excessive Alcohol Consumption
Many arrests, accidents, and violent crimes have occurred as a result of alcohol abuse. While abroad, driving under the influence and drinking on the street or on public transportation may be considered criminal activities by local authorities, as they would be in many places in the United States.

Make Sure Your Prescription Medication is Not Considered an Illegal Narcotic
If you are going abroad with a preexisting medical condition, you should carry a letter from your doctor describing your condition and medications, including the generic names of prescribed drugs. Any medications carried overseas should be in their original containers and clearly labeled. Check with the foreign country’s embassy here in the U.S. to make sure your medications are not considered illegal narcotics. Go to www.studentsabroad.state.gov for a listing of foreign consulates and embassies in the United States.

Don’t Accept Packages From Anyone
Some Americans think it’s a good idea to take advantage of an offer for an all-expense paid vacation abroad in exchange for carrying a small package in their luggage. If you are caught, ignorance is no excuse. If the package contains illegal drugs or substances, the fact that you didn’t know will not reduce the charges. You could miss your flight, your exams, or several years of your life during a stay behind bars.

Don’t Import, Purchase, Use, or Have Drugs in Your Possession
Drug charges can carry severe consequences, including imprisonment without bail for up to a year before a case is tried, physical abuse, and sentences ranging from fines and jail time, to years of hard labor. Some crimes even carry the death penalty. Contraband or paraphernalia associated with illegal drug use can also get you in trouble.

Ignorance of the law is no excuse, so be informed!
Crime Happens

Even if you are cautious, you may, through no fault of your own, become a victim of a crime in another country. Use the following resources if you are in trouble.

1. Contact the nearest U.S. embassy, consulate or consular agency for assistance. Officials at these offices can help you with a number of emergencies, including replacing a stolen passport, communicating with family, and obtaining immediate help.

   - The 24 hours a day / 7 days a week hotline for sexual assault crisis counseling and referrals in the United States is 1-800-656-HOPE (4673). It is operated by a non-profit organization, RAINN (Rape, Abuse and Incest National Network), and is available online at www.rainn.org.

   - Information for non-emergency victim assistance services in communities throughout the United States is available at embassies, consulates, consular agencies overseas, and in Washington, D.C. To contact Overseas Citizens Services, call 1-888-407-4747.

2. Contact local police to report the incident and obtain immediate help. Don’t forget to request a copy of the police report.

3. Depending on the type of crime, there are various hotlines available to offer help for Americans:
   - The 24 hours a day/7 days a week hotline for sexual assault crisis counseling and referrals in the United States is 1-800-656-HOPE (4673). It is operated by a non-profit organization, RAINN (Rape, Abuse and Incest National Network). Also on the internet at www.rainn.org.

Be Safe, Not Sorry

Before you leave:

1. Register your trip with the U.S. embassy or consulate in the country you are visiting. That way, they will know where you are and can help you if you need to report a crime or get emergency assistance.

2. Leave copies of important documents (passports, credit cards, etc.) with your family back home in case the originals are lost or stolen.

While overseas:

1. Stay with a group when exploring the local scene.

2. Don’t flash your cash! Be subtle with your money.

3. Keep credit cards, valuables, and jewelry to a minimum. In short, don’t draw attention to yourself as a potential target.

Changing Your Plans?

Go online to update U.S. embassies or consulates about your change of plans.

Go from here.
Everyone traveling abroad should research local customs, but women should be especially attentive.

Stay safe. Go from here.

Walk this Way (And Talk this Way)
If you are a woman in a foreign country, even dressing in a burlap sack and sensible shoes may not protect you against the unwelcome advances of strangers. Always try to stay with a group when exploring locally and avoid walking alone at night. In addition, don’t feel the need to be overly polite if you are bothered by someone. While it may seem rude to be unfriendly to a stranger, creating boundaries to protect yourself is important. Use facial expressions, body language, and a firm voice to fend off any unwanted attention.

I am Woman: Hear Me Roar?
Traveling through foreign lands gives you a unique opportunity to observe a rich tapestry of cultures and customs—which may include very different ideas about gender roles. Some countries have more conservative views about what constitutes appropriate female behavior. Remember, you’re a visitor. Do some research on social mores before you go and respect the customs of the nation. You may not agree with all of the cultural practices you learn about, but you should abide by them while in that country.

What NOT to Wear: Use Your Fashion Sense
In some countries, wearing the wrong things can get you arrested or lead to a dangerous situation. Different countries have different standards of what is appropriate. Research the culture before you go and pack accordingly. On arrival, note the clothes and makeup local women are wearing and try to follow their lead. Keep flashy jewelry to a minimum to prevent attracting the attention of criminals looking for targets. Any fashion statement you DO make should show consideration for the country you are visiting.
Particles are omitted to make it easier.
